Truck Driver Killed, Wyatt Bicyclist Hurt in Accidents

A truck driver from Mississippi was killed, and a Wyatt youth riding a bicycle was critically injured in separate accidents last night and early today near Sikeston.

Scott County Coroner Gene Nunelee reported Louie Hudson, 36, Crystal Springs, Miss., was killed instantly when the tractor-trailer truck he was driving ran off the road and overturned at 5:55 a.m. today;

Hudson as northbound on Interstate-55 when the truck he was driving left the exit ramp leading to westbound Interstate 57, three miles east of Sikeston. The truck - carrying a load of frozen chickens -- landed front end first near the base of a 20-foot embankment. The truck's cab was crushed beneath the weight of the trailer like the bellows of an accordion.

Hudson was pinned in the cab until 7:35 a.m. He apparently went to sleep at the wheel, the highway patrol reported. The body was taken to the Nunnelee Funeral Home.

Another accident resulted in critical injures to James A. Felts, 17, Wyatt, at 10:25 p.m. Thursday on highway 60, three and one-half miles east of Charleston.

Felts was riding a bicycle west on Highway 60 from Wyatt toward a service station operated by his father. He apparently dropped something and was bending over in the middle of one lane of traffic when the accident occurred, State Highway Patrolman Bennie Rapert said.

An eastbound car driven by David Burns, 20, Sikeston, was passing another car when the Felts youth was bending over. Burn's car struck Felts. There apparently wasn't time for the driver to miss the youth, Rapert said.

Felts was taken to the Missouri Delta Community Hospital and transferred by Welsh ambulance to the Baptist Memorial Hospital in Memphis. He suffered mutiple injuries including a broken arm, leg and hip and deep cuts.

Wilson Felts, the injured youth's father, reported today his son suffered a fractured pelvis and shoulder, two broken legs, one broken arm, and one finger was cut off, bruises and cuts.

HIGHWAY PATROLMEN - police and passers-by remove the body of Louie Hudson, a Mississippi truck driver, killed early today on the northeast side of the Interstate 55 and Interstate 57 interchange.

Curfew Ordered In Cairo

CAIRO (AP) — A curfew was reimposed in Cairo Thursday after whites and Negroes squared off on opposite sides of the street and hurled bricks, bottles, rocks and jeers at one another.

Police broke up the encounter quickly. Police Chief William Peterson ordered the 8 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew immediately after the standoff in front of Cairo's police station where some 400 whites had ended a 15-block trek called a mother's march "to demand equal rights for whites."

The marchers, many of them men, were confronted by about 150 Negroes at the police station. Whites lined up on one side of the street and Negroes on the other. The violence broke out after jeers were exchanged. One policeman was injured.

Earlier Thursday, a fire which swept a warehouse complex stretching along five blocks, drove about 3,000 residents out of the area when it was feared chemical fumes released by the blaze might be toxic. They returned to their homes when the fumes proved to be nonpoisonous.

Numerous fires have blazed in Cairo in the past several months — many blamed on arsonists — and officials said that although the cause of the warehouse fire had not been determined, arson was a possibility.

Surtax Stopgap Passes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress completed action today on an emergency bill to continue through July present tax withholding rates pending a decision on extending the 10 per cent income surtax.

The House sent the measure to the President by voice vote. The Senate passed it Wednesday.

Supporters of the withholding extension emphasized that the bill did not commit anyone to support the surtax continuance.

"This is a matter of housekeeping," said Chairman William M. Colmer, D-Miss., of the Rules Committee. Without it, Colmer added, there would be "a lot of confusion" later if the surtax was continued but withholding had ceased.

The surtax, imposed last year, expires at midnight next Monday. Legislation to extend it is pending but has not been acted on by either branch of Congress. The House has scheduled a vote on the controversial proposal for next Monday.

Without the withholding extension, the government and employers would have to stop withholding at present rates starting next Tuesday, and then change the system later if the surtax was continued.

Should the surtax be allowed to die, most taxpayers would get a refund of the money withheld.

Meanwhile, Rep. Richard Fulton, D-Tenn., a member of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee, served notice he would vote against an extension of the surtax

Senate Passes Bill to Ease Auto Inspection

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Relief from the strict motor vehicle inspection law that so upset Missouri motorists at the beginning of the year got another boost Thursday.

The Senate passed and sent to the House its version of a bill to make the law easier to live with.

The bill has been in the legislative works since early in the session when a house subcommittee began listening to hundreds of complaints.

The way it cleared the Senate Thursday it would limit inspection to brakes, lights,signaling devices, steering mechanism and tires. It would specifically exclude wheel alignment—one item that caused many complaints.

It would also stagger registration and inspection of trucks, a requirement that produced a bottleneck under the law when they all had to be inspected and registered in January.

Police Investigate Three Prowler Reports

Darlene Burgess, 842 Ruth, reported to police at 11:19 p.m. Thursday that a prowler had taken a ladder from the shed behind her house and tried to gain entrance through the east window.

Mrs. William Parker, 728 Gladys, reported a prowler to police at 11 p.m., who was inside her house. Mrs. Parker said she saw the suspect run from the house and leap over a back fence.

Mary Patton, 422 Fletcher, reported a prowler at 11:28 p.m. had ripped off the screen of her back door.

William V. Slaten, route four, Sikeston, reported to police Thursday morning that the left front bumper of his 1968 Ford sedan was struck by a white 1966 El Camino. He charged that the vehicle left the scene of the accident. Police identified the driver as Glen M. Cutler, 237 Elm, Dexter, who said he did not know that he had hit Slaten's vehicle. He was cited for careless driving.

The incident occurred when Tate walked by Hasting's fence and the dog reached out and bit him. Hasting said the dog has been vaccinated for rabies.

Howard Melton, 410 Dona, reported to police last night that a white marble bird bath was taken from his front yard. Mounted on the bath is a statue of a girl kneeling with an apron.

Three Arrested

Police made three arrests Thursday:

William Lee Schurenberg, 103 East Malone, was arrested on a charge of disturbing the peace and released on a $100 bond. Helen Eskew, 615 Kathleen, was arrested on the same charge.

Walter Turner Jr., 4891 Rosalie, St. Louis, was arrested on a charge of damaging public property by driving his car on a baseball field.

Hearnes to Take Debate Challenge

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes today accepted the invitation of Senate President Pro Tem Earl R. Blackwell to debate the state's fiscal needs on television.

In a letter to the Hillsboro Democrat Hearnes said today he accepted "with pleasure your invitation to discuss our views on state needs on statewide TV."

He said Channel 4-TV (KMOX TV) St. Louis offered its services shortly after Blackwell issued the challenge to the governor. He said the station would make the program available to other stations in Missouri.

Blackwell has insisted the state does not need an income tax increase to continue present services.

Hearnes has asked for an increase in both individual and corporate income taxes, as well as some measures to accelerate the collection of taxes to provide the additional money needed for public school aid, capital improvements at state institutions and new government programs.

The battle between the two Democratic leaders has caused a legislative crisis in the final days of the session.

The debate presumably would have to be produced before the end of the session next Monday at midnight to be of any public value.

Teacher's Art On Display At Cape

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The ground floor of the art-home economics building at Southeast Missouri State College will be the site of an art show Tuesday to July 18 be presented by Mrs. Joyce Miller, art instructor at Sikeston junior high school.

The title of the show is "The Plastic Arts with Primary Emphasis on the Arts of Ceramics and Weaving." It was prepared by Mrs. Miller in connection with her work toward a master of arts degree at State. She plans to complete the degree requirements last summer.

Hours for viewing the show are 7 a.m. - 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Apollo Launch Rehearsal Opens

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Apollo 11 launch crew today started a seven-day countdown rehearsal to determine whether the rocket and spaceship are ready to send men on a moon-landing mission next month.

The rehearsal started at one minute after midnight when several systems aboard the spacecraft were fed electrical power. The first phase is to end next Wednesday with a mock liftoff of the fully fueled Saturn 5 rocket.

The next day, with fuel tanks emptied, the three astronauts are to climb into their spaceship atop the rocket to run through the final hours of a second countdown and several hours of simulated flight.

A successful test will clear the way for Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins to rocket toward the moon July 16.

Retirement Pay Raise Bill Goes To Governor

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The House today passed a bill boosting retirement benefits substantially for legislators and about 25 per cent for other state workers.

The measure now goes to the governor on a 91-62 vote in the House and a 23-10 vote in the Senate earlier.

The base rate for most state workers would be 1 ¼ per cent but for legislators it would be 4 per cent. State workers would pay no more than in the past in contributions but legislators would double their contributions to 8 per cent.

Now, a legislator after 20 years service can retire at age 60 and get $3,600 a year. Under the new formula he can retire at the age of 55 and get $6,720.

Other state employes getting the same pay as legislators, $8,400 a year, would receive only $1,680 a year when retiring after 20 years.

Rep. Richard DeCoster, D-Canton, called it "a raid on the state treasury.

Hearnes Signs 20 More Bills

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes signed 20 bills into law today, including 16 routine revision bills.

One new law will let the Employment Security Division cooperate with non-profit organizations in helping find jobs for unemployed Missourians.

A change in voting requirements in soil and water district elections was signed along with one to extend the time limit on use of federal funds in the unemployment trust fund.

Stoddard Youth Problems Aired

By E.J. MAYS
State Editor

DEXTER — Youth and adults combined efforts Thursday night in the evaluation of problems important to expedition of the Stoddard County Area President's Little White House Conference on Children and Youth. They prepared for a union Wednesday night with evaluations of Scott and Mississippi counties for an overall presentation.

The tri-county meet will be held at the Sikeston high school with Area Chairman Bill Moore presiding.

The Stoddard County meeting, working under the chairmanship of Joe Welborn of Bloomfield, and with Mrs. Marie Williams, Missouri state chairman, looking on, was directed by Frances Seeburger of Dexter as Youth Chairman and Elizabeth Welborn as the Organizational chairman.

The group delved into the variancies of the present causes of dissesion and protests, carefully examing the following "crucial problems of these crucial times" and asking:

"Where does Your community stand regarding the family, school, church, community and governmental phases of present day living?"

These facets were further broken down into definite examinations, including:

—Does the community provide counseling services to strengthen families?

—Is the school helping to bridge the gap between dependence and independence?

—Does the church emphasize institutional matters over human elements?

—What about the use of alcoholic beverages, drugs and narcotics?

—Is the draft equitable? Should there be alternatives?

—What is being done to promote racial integration and better understanding of cultural differences?

—Is there involvement in policy-making, planning, and implementation of programs by youth to help meet their quest for identity and a a meaningful place in society?

The resolutions, as arrived at and announced by Chairman Welborn, include:

CHURCH (16 adults, 5 youths)

1. The Church should furnish more opportunities to youth to serve in challenging tasks.

2. The Church should not be more concerned with its structure than it is with its ministry.

3. Churches have a need to develop a stronger training program for its membership.

4. There should be formulation of an inter-denominational youth planning committee for breaking down barriers among people and promoting faith and brotherhood.

GOVERNMENT
(14 adults, 6 youths)

1. That the voting age for Missouri should remain at 21.

2. That the age for eligibility for driver's license should remain at 16.

3. That draft regulations should be revised so that every person over the age of 18 should serve in some capacity such as Peace Corps, military, Vista, unless physically or mentally incapable.

4. That the age of youth under the jurisdiction of the Juvenile Court should be raised from the present 17 years to 18 years.

5. Present compulsory school age law should be raised from 16 to completion of high school.

FAMILY (14 adults, 6 youths)

1. Parents need to lend more help to youth groups. An effort should be made to involve entire family interest in learning to communicate with each other.

2. We need to raise the grade level of our society in order to deal with family problems.

3. We need to find ways to devote more study to our own culture, sociology, psychology and anthropology sematics.

4. Schools should endeavor to improve courses in sociology and psychology.

5. There should be a strengthening of family unit.

SCHOOL (11 adults, 11 youths)

1. High school students should be offered one or two courses as electives, to be taught in the manner of college courses.

2. Vocational and technical courses should be increased in secondary schools, but not at the expense of academic courses.

3. Sex education, essential in our society, is the joint responsibility of the home, the church and the school.

4. Instruction in secondary schools should be increased in formal courses in the humanities (art, history, music, literature, drama, and philosophy) and in the physical and natural sciences and mathematics.

5. Increased communication should be urged among students, parents and teachers in grade and secondary schools.

COMMUNITY
(10 adults, 4 youths)

1. Young people should have a voice in helping to plan community programs.

2. Youth, as well as adults

Forest Fires Blanket Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Visibility dropped to less than half a mile over several thousand square miles of interior Alaska as smoke from more than 50 forest fires—ranging in size up to 300,000 acres—blanketed much of the state.

Nearly 1,400 Bureau of Land Management and military firefighters battled to control 15 fires in the Fairbanks district, including a 300,000-acre blaze northwest of the city. The city was in no danger.

At least 30 fires elsewhere were unchecked because of their "low priority" and a lack of manpower, officials said.

Six major fires were burning in the Anchorage district, the bureau said, but the city was not threatened.

Sweet Corn Harvest Begins in Mississippi County

By SHIRLEY PRITCHETT

EAST PRAIRIE — The sweet corn harvest made its advent in Mississippi County this week. Harvesting began yesterday on the W.C. Bryant and H.V. Morrow farms. Processing started at the huge Wendell Choate plant at Dorena.

Some 1,200 acres are expected to be harvested in Mississippi county — the bulk of the Bootheel acreage.

The yield, measured not in bushels, but by crates — each of which contain five dozen, or 60 ears of corn — is expected to run from 270-280 crates per acre, according to Choate, whose sales office at Charleston handles the sale of the product from the Mississippi county area. Gold Cup, Northern Belle, and Silver Queen varieties are grown.

Harvesting, for those uninitiated in gathering the corn, is done by what is known as a "Mule Train" an ungainly device which looks much like the first model of the Wright Brothers airplane.

A wing span of 30 feet protrudes each side of a tractor, which rides behind the train and pushes it. A truck, which will carry the corn to the processor, precedes the train, linked to a conveyor belt that cares for shuttling the packed cases to the truck from the train.

Fourteen work on each side and in front of the train, throwing the ears they pluck from the talks into a bin. A dozen or more packers, riding atop the train platform take, grade, and pack the corn into the crates, under the eyes of department of agriculture graders. These graders reject even the least suspect ears, those cut, or trampled while in the bins.

A cutting machine, much like a regular mowing machine, but with the cutting blade elevated to a near head high position, has preceded the train, cutting the tassle off the stalks.

Once a loaded truck is ready the truck makes the trip to the Dorena processing plant where the product is cooled by being run through pressurized ice water for a period of 50 minutes. Some 12 workers are used in processing and loading the cooled corn into refrigerated trucks.

This year's crop is expected to be one of the best in history before the end of the gathering, which should occur around August 4-5, according to the growers.

The corn is eaten boiled, used as a salad component, fried, roasted and barbecued and is in great demand.

No retail sales are made from the processing plant.

In former years rejected corn, returned to the field, was picked up by residents and used but this is no longer allowed. Instead the corn is disced under as the field is prepared for another crop.

Choate explained that, under the old process of letting persons pick up the undergraded corn, meant to be used for their own consumption, the ungraded product was being sold onto the public market by some of the gatherers, thus giving housewives an inferior product.

THE TRUMANS' GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

When John and Martha Truman moved to Independence, Mo., in December 1890, Martha took the children to the nearest Protestant church, which happened to be the First Presbyterian at Lexington and Pleasant streets. There young Harry, as he tells in his Memoirs, became interested in a young girl who "had golden curls and has, to this day, the most beautiful blue eyes."

The young girl was Bess Wallace, who lived east of the Trumans at the corner of Delaware and Waldo. Truman remembers: "We went to Sunday School, public school from the fifth grade through high school, graduated in the same class, and marched down life's road together. For me she still has the blue eyes and golden hair of yesteryear."

Aside from that homely prose, there is little mention of Bess Truman in the Memoirs. On his return to civilian life after World War I, Truman dutifully reports: "Bess Wallace and I decided to go ahead with our plans for marriage, and we set the day, June 28, 1919, less than eight weeks after I was discharged from the Army. After a wedding trip to Chicago and Port Huron, Mich., we returned to live at 219 North Delaware Street in Independence."

Thus the bare facts of the wedding of two people who were eventually to become among the most devoted couples ever to occupy the White House. They celebrate their Golden anniversary on Saturday, June 28. And the world wishes them well.

THE IMPACT OF REGULATION Z

The Nomenclature is a trifle complicated. The title of the law is the Consumer Protection Act of 1968. Part of it is known as the Truth - in - Lending Act. The rules for its enforcement laid down by the Federal Reserve Board on Feb. 9 are embodied in a document called Regulation Z.

The purpose of the new law is to assure that consumer borrowers- and that includes just about all of us -- be given full information to enable them to shop effectively for credit. In properly understood, its heaviest impact will be on the ghetto, where the cost of credit historically has been high -- often outrageously so -- and the buyers are unsophisticated.

The President's Commission on Civil Disorders in its report of Feb. 29, 1968, found that deceptive sales and credit pracitces were among the 12 bitterest grievances in American ghettos. After July 1 a good many shady sales and credit gimmicks will be either forsworn or outmoded.

The new law is one of the toughest and most far-reaching consumer bills adopted by Congress in many years. It will affect practically all credit or loan dealings the consumer enters into with banks, savings and loan associations, department stores, credit card companies, credit unions, automobile dealers, finance companies, home mortgage brokers, and even plumbers and electricians.

Truth - in - Lending actually is incorporated in Title I of the act. It is essentially a labeling law. Consumer Reports observes: "It provides for meaningful labeling of most kinds of instalment debt, including... consumer credit."

Lenders must provide their customers with full, honest, and -- most importantly - - comparable information about the cost of the credit they are buying. For example, when a bank offers a 5 per cent discount rate on automobile loans, the true annual rate on payments spread over three years is really 11 per cent. When a department store charges a service charge on a revolving charge account of 1-½ per cent a month it comes to 18 per cent a year at the true annual rate. A consumer loan from a personal finance company may have as much as 48 per cent tacked on as a credit charge.

How effective this part of the act will be depends on how well it is publicized. Organizations ranging from the American Bankers Association to the AFL-CIO have been spreading interpretations. The Federal Trade Commission has sent out 750,000 copies of the new law to lenders.

The law provides criminal penalties of up to $5,000 in fines and/ or one year imprisonment for violation of the credit disclosure requirements. Perhaps more meaningful in the ghetto will be two other sections of the Act. Title II provides a fine of up to $10,000 and/or 20 years in prison for loan sharking -- extortionate extension of credit. And Title III sets definite limits on garnishment of weekly wages. Exempted from garnishment will be either 75 per cent of weekly disposable income or an amount equal to 30 times the national minimum wage, whichever is the larger.

The garnishment limitation does not go into effect, however, until July 1, 1970. When it does begin to work, millions of Americans will be freed of fear. In the words of Gilbert B. Friedman, a San Francisco attorney, "the welfare rolls (will) be reduced by the number of families forced into unemployment because their bosses wanted to eliminate unnecessary wage expense."

ON POSTAL CORPORATIONS

A justice of the peace in McLean, Virginia was recently bore the familiar red and white stripes denoting air mail and presented with a letter marked "Postage Due 4 cents". The letter to it was affixed a six-cent stamp. The j.p. paid the fee, knowing that the charge for airmail is currently ten cents.

Then he noticed that the words "Air Mail" were crossed out and that the envelope was postmarked "McLean, Va." When he pointed this out to the post office clerk, he was informed that postal regulations require that air mail envelopes bear the proper postage for air mail delivery, even in cases in which, like the present instance, the letter traveled only from one box in the post office to another in the same office.

We feel to thinking how long a private company would last if it were to operate in this abitrary manner. It wouldn't be long before the Better Business Bureau, Chamber of Commerce, or perhaps a government bureau would be jumping up and down, demanding redress. It could happen in the near future.

President Nixon is attempting to get Congress to approve a plan for a mail agency, set up as a self-financed corporate structure. This is the plan suggested by the Kappel Report in 1968. Strong opposition is expected from certain members of Congress and postal union leaders. Is it that they fear loss of power and influence? Who can tell?We do know, however, that the postal service does need revamping. Costs keep rising and the quality of performance keeps dropping.

It is time to eliminate self-seeking petty bureaucrats and let free enterprise take a crack at the job. To those who defend the status quo with the comment that this "would mean a monopoly," we suggest a look at the telephone companies. Check long distance toll rates twenty years ago as compared with prevailing rates. We may complain about certain aspects of telephone service, but when it is contrasted with mail service it comes out well ahead. Surely the ingenuity which produced the superb system of oral communications we enjoy can meet the task of marking similar improvements in the transmittal of written communications. It's worth a try now.

The California Taxpayers' Association observed that, "A negative income tax is often offered as a solution to welfare problems. The first state to try it is New Jersey where an experiment is being run on 80 low income families. The controlled experiment is being financed by a $4 million federal anti-poverty grant. Under the system a minimum level of income would be established. Families below that would be paid from tax money to raise their income to the minimum. The experiment will take three years and should be watched by all governmental entities concerned with taxing or welfare."

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Thirteen years ago Florence Greenberg was a Passaic, N.J., housewife with two growing teen-age children and a growing feeling herself that she had become trapped by her home chores.

She looked around for something else to do.

"My son Stanley, then only 14, had written a song so I decided to sell it," she recalled. But she found the doors of Manhattan music publishers firmly closed.

"So I decided to go into business myself," said Mrs. Greenberg. All she had to start with was a $30,000 family inheritance and a determination to prove she could do more with her life than keep a house clean.

Today at 51, Mrs. Greenberg, a pleasant-faced woman with brown hair and soft brown eyes, is the only woman president of a major record company. Her firm, Sceptor Records, has turned out some 100 million discs, will take in an estimated $8 million this year, and now has worldwide distribution.

She never did get around to recording the song written by her son, now an executive with her organization. Her first record was "I Met Him on a Sunday," made by the Chirelles, a young Negro rock 'n' roll group discovered by her teenage daughter, Mary Jane.

"That first record cost us only $400 to produce—but it got us off to a good start," said Mrs. Greenberg.

Although her musical background consisted chiefly of a few piano lessons taken in her youth, she found she had a shrewd ability to pick new talent and a natural skill at getting along with people.

She has helped foster the careers of Dionne Warwick, Chuck Jackson, the Isley brothers, B.J. Thomas and many others.

Mrs. Greenberg says she has found it no handicap to be a woman in a business that has been traditionally dominated by men.

"If you are a floozy, men laugh at you. But if you are a decent woman, they will always show courtesy to you and try to give you a break."

This is her advice to other wives who aspire to an escape from household boredom.

"Be sincere in your own ambitions. It is pointless for a woman to stand by her kitchen sink and dream of how she'd like to be Miss America. She must try to do something that reflects her sincere goals."

Mrs. Greenberg was divorced from her accountant husband five years ago and feels that her own success may have been a factor in the breakup of their marriage.

"If a housewife wants to keep her husband happy," she said frankly, "she had better try a small challenge outside the home, not one so big that she becomes a financial competitor of her husband.

"How can you pick up a man after work in a Rolls-Royce and still have him love you as a woman?"

ODD ITEMS: Girls Will Be Boys -- There was a full - page ad in a recent N.Y. Times offering men's hats made by a men's manufacturer to women -- for wear with pant suits. (And believe it or not, many of the male hippies are wearing those big, floppy women's hats!)... Follow-Up Report -- Last month, we told you about black suede evening shoes with 18-karat gold buckles for $850 a pair -- for men. Well, they were advertised by a store in Washington, D.C. -- and half the store's customers thought the price was a mistake, and the other half thought the store was kidding! ... Report on Onassis -- "Should some of Jackie's extraordinary fashion sense rub off on her husband's fairly traditional wardrobe, it could be a big boom for mature men's fashions." (But can he afford to buy a new suit or two?) ... Q & A -- I've read that ties and handkerchiefs should not match. Is this correct? It's purely a matter of taste. One of today's biggest selling fashions has matching shirt, tie and handkerchief. The best rule, however, we think, is to have the tie and handkerchief blend, rather than match.

SHORTS IN LIVING COLOR

Now the well- dressed man can be fashionable all the way down to the skin. A maker of men's unmentionables is introducing a line of shorts, T-shirts and athletic shirts in eight high - fashion colors.

The fact that the public doesn't know what goes on underneath the Italian silk is no excuse for underwear that is dull, lifeless and unromantic, urges the company's marketing manager. A man's underwear can now reflect his personality, he says. Fire Red, for example, should be perfect for dynamic, aggressive types.

There is also a Blush Pink, which must either be for shy fellows or those who have experienced suspender failure sometime in their lives.

A NEW POLITICAL WIND

Among other things that are being predicted is that within 10 years 48 per cent of U.S. households will have yearly incomes of $10,000 or more. Many of these new semi-rich citizens will be those holding blue collar jobs and presumably be within the ranks of organized labor. The traditional picture of the labor vote in support of so-called liberal policies of government, which involve higher rates of federal spending, more public welfare programs, and along with them higher taxes, is rapidly changing.

A highly progressive income tax already takes a deep bite out of the average family's paycheck. Policies which involve federal deficits and continuing inflation strike hardest at the average citizen who is earning a good income, paying his way and trying to have something left over to provide for his future.

As more and more Americans reach this state of relative affluence, they will become more and more concerned with preserving the value of their savings. There is every likelihood that this will prove to be a major factorin curbing the unlimited growth of government, and it augurs well for the future of individual freedom in the United States.

SOURCE OF CONSTRUCTIVE OFFICE-HOLDERS

Our Republic USA needs desperately to have the services of the finest young men the nation can offer as public servants. A vast untapped reservoir of the finest possible office-seekers and potential public servants is available among former FBI agents.

Many former FBI agents now occupy positions of prestige in business and civic affairs and are looked up to by all segments of their communities. The vast majority are of the most constructive mind and persuasion.

The nation is experiencing difficulties which in the next several years will tax the ingenuity of its leaders to the utmost. Efforts should be made to persuade the 7,000-plus former FBI agents residing in every section of the nation to ake an active role in the affairs of government.

A former agent, who had to be screened from hundreds of applicants on the basis of integrity, character and reputation, has been trained in the bureau's excellent tradition of service to our Republic and its freedom. He becomes a natural for further government service as an office-holder.

Since these former FBI agents are normally Constructives, it would seem that the Nixon Administration could do some excellent recruiting and the local Constructive organizations could have an ideal man who could stand a far better chance of being elected than anyone else they might choose. Failure to send constructive lawmakers to Congress next year's election will result in freedom missing the last chance to effectively reverse the policies of socialism of he past 36 years. By improving the quality of public officials in 1970, the stage will be set for a constructive landslide in 1972, thereby assuring the preservation of Republic USA for the foreseeable future. HLH

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON SAY: Nixon Boo-Boo Rivals Other Presidents'; White House Busy Denying He Promised Anything; Nixon's Anti-Clifford Remarks Were Planned In Advance

WASHINGTON — President Nixon, who prides himself on being more skillful at televised press conferences than any other president — and probably is — may have pulled a boo-boo comparable to Harry Truman's press conference mistake when he said he might drop the atomic bomb in Korea.

This brought Prime Minister Clement Attlee flying across the Atlantic from London the next day. Likewise Nixon's staff has been rushing out statements ever since his press conference, denying that he meant what he said when he indicated that he'd developed a better approach to ending the war than his critics from the Johnson administration, and that he hoped to bring American troops home, faster than ex-Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford suggested.

However, the impact left on the public mind by the initial presidential statement is usually the one which lasts. And it's possible that this press conference will be a turning point for peace. In brief, Nixon is probably stuck with his remark in which he out-Clifforded Clark Clifford.

Specifically, here is what President Nixon said when asked about Clifford's suggestion that 100,000 troops be pulled out of South Vietnam by the end of this year:

—WHAT NIXON SAID—

"I respet his judgment as a former secretary of defense. I would point out, however, that for five years in the administration in which he was Secretary of Defense in the last part, we had a continued escalation of the war; we had 500,000 Americans in Vietnam; we had 35,000 killed; we had over 200,000 injured.

"And in addition to that, we found that in the year — the full year in which he was secretary of defense — our casualties were the highest of the whole five-year period. And as far as negotiations were concerned, all that had been accomplished — as I indicated earlier — was that we had agreed on the shape of the table.

"Now this is not to say that Mr. Clifford's present judgment is not to be considered because of the past record.

"It does indicate, however, that he did have a chance in this particular respect, and did not move on it then.

"I believe that we have changed that policy. We have started to withdraw forces. We will withdraw more. And another decision will be made in August. I will not indicate the number because the number will depend upon the extent of the training of the South Vietnamese, as well as developments in Paris, and the other factors that I have mentioned previously.

"As far as how many will be withdrawn by the end of this year, by the end of next year, I would hope that we could beat Mr. Clifford's timetable, just as I think we've done a little better than he did when he was in charge of our national defense."

—THE REACTION—

The immediate reaction to the President's statement was twofold:

1. His friends and aides gloated over the manner in which he had cut the ground out from under Clifford. They said it was such a neat piece of decapitation that the former Secretary of Defense wouldn't realize his head was cut off until he tried to turn it.

2. Every newspaper in the country the next day played up the President's expectation of bringing back more troops than Clifford proposed. The New York Times led with page one headlines, "President hopes pullout will top 200,000 before 71."

It's learned from inside the White House that Mr. Nixon rehearsed his reply to Clark Clifford. He knew the question would be asked; in fact, White House aides had the question planted, and it was asked early in the press conference.

Therefore, it's obvious that Mr. Nixon deliberately planned to cut the political ground out from under Clifford. But the big question is, did he go too far?

Everyone from senators to diplomats and from newsmen to politicians has been debating that question. The chief worry in the White House is that Nixon cut the ground out not only from under Clifford but also his own negotiators in Paris, and that the North Vietnamese are not going to budge further toward concessions as long as they know Nixon is committed to massive troop withdrawals.

Only time can tell what will happen in Paris. However, it's pretty well agreed that President Nixon made a prodigious mistake.

His friends point out that other presidents have also made mistakes, which is true. In addition to Truman's boner regarding the use of the atomic bomb in Korea, he also once got Yugoslavia mixed up with Czechoslovakia, and the White House had to issue a correction.

Then there was the very serious error made by President Harding when he got the Japanese-mandated islands of the Pacific mixed up with the Japanese home islands and the entire Washington Treaty had to have a protocol added to clarify this point.

There were also small errors in Eisenhower's press conferences chiefly resulting from long, rambling sentences. The late president had a passion for pxolixity.

But neither Eisenhower, Truman nor Johnson, it should be noted, considered himself a star on television.

Threat To Government?

Air Controllers Sudden "Sickness" May Trigger Unprecedented Federal Strikes

Washington, D.C.: -- Airports are not for sleeping. Yet, the other night thousands of children, Europe-bound vacationers and pre-ulcer businessmen hit the benches, floors and even washrooms as improvised-bedding places, In New York, airline executives tore at receding hairlines as theyey learned that 1,000 flights were being delayed, 300 were not taking off at all and losses were running roughly at $5 million daily.

There was what commercial aviation experts described as "chaos" backlashing from delays in the port of New York on through Europe and Asia as well as the U.S.

This resulted from the "strike" that wasn't. This was the creeping paralysis caused by members of the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization, (PATCO) a union which says it isn't. And, PATCO is counseled by that instant labor lawyer, F. Lee Bailey, specialist in murder trails.

There's more here than the melodramatic F. Lee Bailey and his clients, who talk continually about all of America's commercial aviation sitting on "a time bomb." There's more here than even Secretary of Labor Shultz sitting in an airplane shuttle on a New York airstrip for almost three hours.

The critical issue here is woven into the fact that the 240 radar room specialists who called in "sick" are federal employes of the Federal Aviation Administration. If they or their 6,000 other colleagues strike they commit a felony. They can be fined. They can go to prison. They can be deprived of considerable civil rights, if convicted, under the felony laws.

The "sick" traffic controllers apparently acted in concert. And as one of the nation's three or four authorities on the federal labor laws, Dave Cole, said the other day, "acting in concert also is a violation of the federal anti-strike laws." Let's hold this for a moment. Let's see why they struck -- or rather "went sick."

I talked with PATCO's board chairman, Mike Rock, an intense man obviously angered and obviously dedicated to his followers. He and counselor Bailey are the strategists. Mr. Rock said quite firmly that the nation's air traffic controllers (men who guide commercial planes in and out of the airport) have been working 10 hours a day, six days a week for the past three years. They're tired. They want heavy recruitment to supply relief staffs.

Mr. Rock says that instrument room equipment is of hoop skirt vintage. Some of the radar and instruments, says he, now in use were taken of aircraft carriers after the second world war. The control towers and their equipment adds he, are for yesterday's DC-3's and are being used in the 340-seat Losing-747 craft soon to launched by Pan American World Airways. The DC-3 can make a top "speed" of 200 miles an hour. Today's commercial jet can wing at 700 miles an hour.

And, says he, there is no back-up system. If the radar goes dead, "we lose those planes flying in at 500 to 600 miles an hour. We have been asking for modern radar frequencies tharat work. And here we are working in 1940 tempo.'

And when FAA chief John Shaffer testified that the government and the PATCO fellows (and members of other federal employes unions) were not as pressed as they made it sound, some of the men "got plain sick" says Mr. Rock. Kennedy International Airport accepted but 17 arrivals an hour instead of the usual 45 to 50. Some Pan-Am flights were diverted to Canada.

Now from the FAA comes word that the government is working on computering, recruiting and remunerating swiftly. The controllers are the only federal employes who get time and a half for overtime says FAA. The Academy at Oklahoma City is turning out men as quickly as they can be enlisted. Higher pay now can run to $22,000 annually.

There is a budget problem. Certainly there is an air controller personnel problem. But as the respected Dave Cole – to whom U.S. presidents have turned for advice for two decades – puts it: what of the public interest? And he asks what of the critical problem of strikes agains he federal government?

Mr. Cole recalls no other "federal sector" strike action. Thus this PATCO action is the first such job action on record (except for a handful of meterologists or postman or two).

"The law stipulates," says mediator Cole'' that an individual lmay not accept or hold a position in the government of the U.S. . . . if he advocates overthrow of the constitutional form of government, or if he participates in a strike or even asserts the right to strike against the government, or if he is a member of an organization which makes such an assertion. Whoever violates the provisions of section 7311 shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than one year and a day or both."

"What does Mr. Lee Bailey say about this," asks Mr. Cole, who believes that the instant illness and instant recovery were concerted actions and thus in violation of the federal law.

"What is the responsibility of a lawyer advising federal employes in the face of this law?"asks Mr. Cole. "There has been no previous violation of this law. I ask what is the responsibility of the federal employe? What is the responsibility of an attorney advising such employes?

"And what about the public interest as reflected in these laws?How do you balance the inequities of the employes with the inequities heaped on the public by such action?"

There you have it. This sudden "sickness" may be more than an inconvenience. It may be the forerunner of federal strikes.

The Gospel Visitor

By: REEDUS M. BAUGHER

For the past few weeks we have been studying the attitude of Christ, regarding God's scriptures. I feel this study has been worth while and profitable to those wishing to follow Jesus Christ. Much more could be said, but for now we will conclude this line of study, by a review of what we have said, and some concluding thoughts.

We noticed that Jesus believed the scriptures to be: (1) Historically Reliable; by refering to such places and events as, Jonah and the whale, Noah and the flood, the queen of Sheba and her visit to Solomon. (Matt. 12:40; 24:37-39; 12:41-41). (2) Literally Accurate; by making an argument on the tense of a verb as found in, Exodus 3:6. His point was, God said, "I am" rather than, "I was" (Matt. 22:23-32). (3) For Doctrine (Every Scripture); by the answer He gave Satan, and denouncing the Pharisees' and Scribes overlooking the "weightier matters" in preference for the smaller things, He said they ought to have done it all. (Matt. 4:4; 23:23). (4) Sacred, and must be respected; by condemning the traditions of men, and the answer He gave the rich young ruler inquiring what to do to have eternal life? His answer was, "Keep the commandments." (Matt. 15:1-9; 19:16).

Thus Christ has set the pattern of attitude for all those claiming to follow Him. He was throughly acquainted with he scriptures, applying them to every situation of life. (Matt. 4:4). The pattern has been set, we cannot claim respect for the life and teaching of Christ, without imitating His attitude of respect for the Holy scriptures. There are a lot of issues which can be raised that have absolutely no bearing on the right or wrong of anything. Always remember the attitude of Christ and go to God's word for your answers.

Jesus has said, we must believe in Him. (Jno. 8:24) All must repent, (Luke 13:3). And also confess Him. (Matt. 10:32) And be baptized, for remission of sins. (Matt. 28:19; Luke 24:48) He also said, "I will build my church." (Matt. 16:18), Plus, many other things as, "The scripture cannot be broken." (Jno. 10:34).

Sikeston B&PW

The Business and Professional Women's Club held its monthly meeting Wednesday night, at the Travelodge. This month's meeting was a Planning Session for the coming year and the new President, Tatty Tope, presided at the meeting. The programs for the coming year were discussed with the various committee chairmen.

In July the National Convention for Business and Professional Women's Club will be held in St. Louis, Missouri. This is the Golden Anniversary for the Club and Sikeston's attendance at the convention was a major topic of discussion.

Guest for the evening were Mrs. Etma Weeks, Mrs. Stella Waldman and Mrs. Lucille Armsby.

Morehouse W.S.C.S.

MOREHOUSE — "Look What's Happening to Religion" was the title of the program presented to the Woman's Society of Christian Service which met Monday, at 2:00 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Nelson Gruen.

Mrs. F.A. Mitchell had charge of the program.

Three guests, Mrs. E.B. Bridges, Mrs. Fred Geske, and Miss Selma Gruen of Sikeston were present.

Mrs. Mitchell employed visual aids of maps, "a talking napkin", clippings from newspapers and a recording, to show the many forms religion uses to meet the needs of the world and community.

For examples: the Sikeston First Methodist Church is sponsoring the center with emphasis to meet the needs of the elder citizens. In Ankora, Turkey, the Christian Church is working with the Muslims who dominate that country as they up-date their civilization instead of staying behind as so many countries seem content to do.

Members present were Mrs. Joe Barnett, Mrs. Veda Cook, Mrs. Lois McWilliams, Mrs. Chas. Allbright, Mrs. Frank Kesler, Mrs. Wm. Crumpecker, Mrs. Bill Dillon, Mrs. Mitchell, and the hostess.

Following the prayer of St. Francis of Assissi, given by Mrs. Mitchell, the ladies enjoyed a social hour.

Mission Group Meeting Notes

The morning current mission group of the First Baptist Church met with Mrs. Fred Matthews with nine members and one new member present.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. Dan Black, remembering the missionaries on the calendar of prayer.

The program "Responding to the Physical Needs in Korea", was given by Mrs. R.L. Guthrie, Mrs. Bill Winstead, Mrs. Melvin Rodgers, Mrs. J.N. Walker and Mrs. Black.

The business was presided over by the group leader, Mrs. Dan Murchison, the group donated $5.00 to help purchase a silver tray to be used in the fellowship hall of the church. Each member signed a birthday card to be sent to Mrs. R.M. Alsup, an extension member.

Mrs. Glenn Cracraft closed the meeting with prayer.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Rodgers.

Ann Landers

Grandfather's Love Creates Jealousy

Dear Ann Landers: We adore our four grandchildren. My husband is completely devoted to them, especially the two little boys. Grandpa has been like a father to them. Their mother considers it a blessing since their own father was never very attentive to his young family.

Now that the children are getting more articulate it is apparent that they love Grandpa very much. Their own father has decided this love is "unhealthy" because Grandpa is getting old (he's 60) and he may die one of these days. According to their father, the children will suffer severe emotional trauma unless they diminish contact with the old gentleman. He want to "spare them" by limiting Grandpa's visits to once every ten days.

Is our son-in-law right? If you say so we will accept their decision. — Sad

Dear Sad: You must accept their decision no matter what I say. The wishes of the parents must prevail, not those of the grandparents or of Ann Landers.

If it's my opinion you want, here it is: The love children get from a Grandpa is a special kind of love. Their father should be grateful for it, I suspect your son-in-law resents the affection his children feel for Gramps. How unfortunate that he views Gramps as a competition instead of an added dimension in the lives of his youngsters.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been married 21 years. We have a wide circle of friends and have done a good job of raising three splendid children. I would say our marriage is better than most.

About four months ago I received three telephone calls from friends who wanted me to know they were so sorry to hear that Fred and I are getting a divorce. Fred received two such calls at his place of business. Neither of us can figure out who started the story.

Yesterday I received another such call. Apparently the rumor has started again. Is there any way we can trace these completely false stories? Why start them? Why? Wonderment

Dear Won: Don't waste your time and energy trying to track down rumors. It's futile, unrewarding, frustrating and pointless.

Who starts them? It could be anybody. Why? Envy probably.

Dear Ann: Those parents who allowed their 15-year-old son to entertain his girl friend in his bedroom for three hours before dinner (with the door closed) and then allowed them to return to the bedroom after dinner, must be nuts.

Don't parents realize that today a 14-year-old kid knows more about sex than his parents knew at 20? When my brother was 16, he explained to Mom and Dad what homosexuals were and how they got that way. They were SHOCKED

Tell parents to get with it, Ann. Last year two of my girl friends had abortions in Europe and one nearly died because she tried to abort herself. They were all 14 and from so-called "better families." -- D. Troit

Dear Troit: I don't need to tell'em. You did. But good. Thanks.

Do you feel ill at ease . . . out of it? Is everybody having a lgood time but you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key To Popularity," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Mystery Is The Keynote For Greek Designer

NEW YORK (AP) — Drape them anywhere but on a woman and the fall fashion creations of Greek-born designer George Stavropoulos look more like experiments in geometry than the stuff high style is made of.

But put them on a woman and they come alive.

One of Stavropoulos's most complicated productions is the "puzzle pants," a one-piece affair that starts down the shoulder like a cape, then somehow turns into a jumpsuit with two flouncy skirts of chiffon. It looks and moves like a dream.

Mystery is the keynote of Stavropoulos's seamless coat—both for the way it makes a woman look and for the way it was made. The single round piece of black wool somehow sprouts a stand-up collar while swirling around into a diagonal row of buttons in the front.

Stavropoulos unveiled his fall designs Wednesday at the American Designer Showings. And when it wasn't dramatic, this Greek-inspired collection was at the very least alluring.

Proving he's willing to go mod as well as traditional, Stavropoulos completed his collection with a brushed blue wool coat and matching skirt that ended halfway up between the knee and ankie.

The young, free, bold look—by way of the 1930s—dominated the fall offerings of Gayle Kirkpatrick, who designed with the long and lean in mind.

Deep-colored satin minidresses and shirts were sprinkled throughout the collection, along with some daring dips in the neckline.

One "V" neck—in a loose-fitting evening gown—plunged waist low. The fabric, a glitter of deep purple sequins, was eye-catching too.

THE SPRING, from which Cave Spring, Ripley county, derives ts name, is under a natural arch of trees which have stood for more than two generations. This tranquil beauty is an hour and 45 minutes from Sikeston, and more refreshing than air conditioning!

Go West! But Only 80 Miles

Only 80 miles northwest of Sikeston is a virtually untouched bit of nature. The eastern edge of the Ozarks, just off the Ozark Frontier Trail, provides a lot of interesting sights for people who want to travel short distances and see unusual things.

Cave Spring, three miles out of the town of Hunter, has been acquired by the national park system, and will be developed soon. The natural beauty of the spring area is refreshing. So go see it now, instead of waiting for the world to find out about it!

If you follow highway 60 west to Poplar Bluff, you are half way there. Go northwest from Poplar Bluff on highway 60 to the highway 21 junction. Three miles on highway 21, and you are at Hunter.

The people there are proud of the cave and spring. Although it is not the only one in the area, it is one of the most popular. Consequently, it is one of the best known. If you like, you ask directions there. If you prefer, go on your own. Three miles west of Hunter, still on highway 21, you'll find a gravel road to the right. Take it. Landmarks to look for are a trailer house on the left, and on the right, a small house with beehives in the yard. Follow the gravel road three quarters of a mile, and you are under large, old trees and beside a babling brook.

Upstream is the cave (only about an eighth of a mile from the parking area), which you can see past the old mill-house.

Since the area has not been developed as a public park the only actual park facility is a litter barrel. Use it. You may want to go back and look at that clean, green spot again.

You can camp there overnight, and count the fireflies, or listen to the whip-poor-wills. And listen to the brook as it bubbles over the stones. There are wild-flowers, and a few domestic ones. A few years ago, a couple had a home across the stream from the parking area. The house, like people, is gone, but the natural stone foundation is still there, and part of it has rose bushes blooming on it.

It is a rare bit of nature, still natural. Enjoy it. It is as refreshing as spring the year round.

THURSDAY

Entre Nous Club will meet with Mrs. Walter Rayburn at 7 p.m.

When tortillas are to be rolled, remember that they must be heated (in a little melted shortening) only until they soften.

When you are arranging stuffed tortillas in a baking dish (as in making enchiladas) remember to place the tortillas seam side down.

For a quick supper make this easy ham omelet. In saucepan cook 1 onion, chopped, and 1 green pepper, chopped, in 2 tablespoons vegetable oil until tender. Stir in 2 cans (8 ounces each) OR 1 can (15 ounces) tomato sauce with tomato bits and 2 cups chopped cooked ham; simmer 10 to 15 minutes. Meanwhile, prepare a 6-egg omelet. Spoon sauce over omelet and serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

Green noodles taste wonderful with nothing more than butter added. For a really elegant dish, add as much as a quarter pound of butter for eight ounces of the noodles, cooked. Cut the butter into thin slices and as soon as the noodles are cooked and drained, mix in the butter and allow it to melt. A long-handled fork and spoon will help you mix in the butter.

Crisp tortillas in a little oil in a skillet and then heap them with chili con carne, grated cheddar cheese and shredded lettuce. Serve at once.

Vanduser Loses First

Bertrand handed Vanduser its first defeat in Four-County Babe Ruth league play at Vanduser last night, posting an 11-2 victory behind Fred Morrow's pitching while Parma pulled out a 10-6 win at Bell City.

Vanduser still leads the league with a 4-1 record with Bertrand and Parma tied for second with 4-2 marks. Bell City and Benton are tied for fourth with 1-4 records.

Three pitchers failed to stop Bertrand's victory bid. Ronnie Bryant was issured the defeat.

Bertrand broke the game open in the sixth after it took a 5-2 lead into the inning, it added three more and concluded the scoring with three tallies in the seventh on Alan Quertermous' three-run homer.

Parma scored nine runs in the last four innings at Bell City to put down the pesky crew, who jumped in front momentarily in the fifth (6-5) when its scored five runs on three hits and five walks.

Jethro Pugh collected the win, pitching the final two and one third innings, allowing one hit and collecting five strikeouts.

Parma ripped 10 hits with Mike Garrard, Reggie Gregory and Pugh having two for three showings at the plate. Two of the nine starters failed to hit safely.

Bell City's Bell collected three of the teams six hits.

Roland Neal collected two hits in three times at bat to lead the Parma offense. He drove in the tying run in the sixth and scored the winning run on Don Crews' single.

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Bob Bayless of West Palm Beach, Fla., expected to be the quarterback for the Yale football team this fall will not be eligible because of scholastic difficulties, it was announced Thursday. He also was an outstanding punter.

Reiss, Nowell Take Wins

Babe Ruth play last night saw Reiss Dairy defeat the Bank of Sikeston 7-5 and Nowell Real Estate downed Hart's Bread 12-2.

Reiss had a total of eight hits in the opener with three of these being acquired by Sherrod. Bank of Sikeston had a total of five hits as Bobby Blankenship and Marvin Ralph led the two with two apiece.

Only extra base hit of the contest included a triple by Reiss' Collins.

Collins also received the pitching win for Reiss and Bobby Blankenship suffered the loss.

Shafffar contributed three hits to the winning team's effort and collected the only extra base hit of the battle which was a double.

Laplant received the win for Nowell and Shaw was endowed with the loss.

Ponder Holds 8-0 Record In Charleston League

CHARLESTON — One game was staged Wednesday night here as Babe Ruth play saw Ford Implement take a 10-9 win over Delta Painting.

Ford had a total of eight its in the contest with only two if its players striking out.

Delta had a six hit total with eight of its players being fanned.

Mark Chaney received the victory from the mound as the loss went to Terry McClendon.

In last night's games, VFW took an 18-1 loss from the Jaycees, Waggener put down McMikle 16-9, and the undefeated Ponder squad downed KC 11-1.

Ponder Chevrolet now stands as the league leader with an 8-0 record.

Three-Hitter Tops East Prairie Action

EAST PRAIRIE — The Dodgers and Eagles posted Little League wins last night. The Mets were an 18-6 victim of the Dodgers and the Eagles 11-1 prey of the Eagles.

Jeff Cogdill, with eight strikeouts, collected the win for the Dodgers. Darrell Davenport and Mike Helms led the team in hitting with two hits in two appearances. Bryan Cox was the loser, but led this team in hitting with a triple and double.

Mike Conyers pitched a three hitter and struck out six to record the win for the Eagles. Spud Hockersmith tripled and singled to qualify for the top hitting honors. Richie Ivie was the loser.

Babe Ruth league action is scheduled tonight with the Expos going against the Dodgers in the 7 p.m. game at A.J. Davis Field. The Cubs will battle the Pirates at 8:30 p.m.

Collins, Mutual of Omaha, First National, and Leslie won in Musial and American divisions in last night's play.

Eighteen Mutual of Omaha players joined forces in taking a 23-7 win over the Bank of Sikeston. Mutual acquired a total of 19 hits in the contest compared to only two for the opponents.

Delarosa received the pitching win and D. Wilkinson suffered the loss.

Collins took a 13-6 win over KSIM in the other contest at Farris Field but further information was not available.

Opening American battle saw First National down Fabick 18-4. Extra base hits in the contest included triples by Whittaker and Box.

Whittaker received the win from the mound as Paullus was credited with the loss.

Second game saw top ranked Police suffer an 11-10 defeat by Leslie Insurance. Six of the ten hits collected in the game were for extra bases.

Doubles were accumulated by Gardener, Bean, Horne, and Rofkahr and triples by Pickett and Littleton.

How does a parent work with a child who is slow in developing an interest and proficiency in learning to read?

Be understanding, and patient, patient, patient.

Children develop both physically and mentally at different ages and at different rates. They follow their own built-in timetables. Parental pressure to change those timetables is likely to do much more harm than good.

We see this plainly as the child begins to talk (and learning to talk is a necessary preliminary to learning to read).

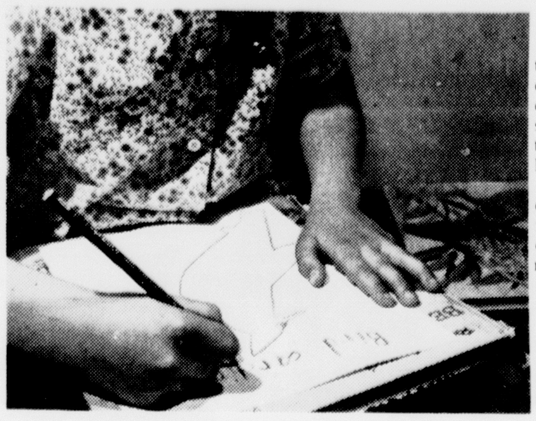

Some children begin early; others begin later, and acquire speech quite slowly. By no means should we consider all late developers to be children of low ability. They are merely following their own timetable.

One thing we are sure of is that we cannot force little children to learn to talk. We can stimulate them, certainly, and encourage them with praise and approval. But we cannot force them.

Efforts to force a child to talk frequently result in great retardation. The pressured child shuts up like a little clam and we get no talk from him until he has somehow developed the confidence and willingness to try again.

Since reading follows speaking, the same rules apply.

With a child who is slow in developing in language, it is vitally important that the parent talk often with him—not so much talk as to engulf him in sound and thus discourage him, but enough to give him help and reinforcement.

Drawing can help the slow-to-read.

If, for instance, such a child says, "red car," the parent can say, "Yes, there goes a red car. And, look, there goes a black truck, too."

In this way, the parent involves himself in the kind of thing the child might want to talk about. He helps him understand what he might be saying, but he does not try to force him to say it.

Helping Late Bloomers

The late-developing child needs a great deal of family help in achieving the kinds of auditory and visual discrimination we have discussed in earlier articles.

He needs more help than the average child in learning to notice the similarities and differences in sounds and shapes so that he can react to them with ease. It is important that he have quantities of picture books, with stories easy to understand. These should be read to him by his brothers and sisters and parents so that he has many opportunities to hear the language and to associate it with books and reading.

When the late-developing child does begin to talk, it also is important that parents write down some of the things he says.

The child should be encouraged to cut pictures out of magazines, or draw his own with crayons or pencil. As he tells what these pictures are about, the parent can write down what he says underneath the pictures.

These pages can then be fastened together into a little book that the child can feel is all his own. These and similar books can be added to Mother Goose books, picture books and the like to form the beginning of a small but very personal library for the child.

While you are taking down a child's dictation, you can teach him a great deal about reading and writing if you encourage him to stand or sit near enough so that he can watch carefully.

Keep On Praising

Every child needs the stimulation that comes with adult interest and adult approval. This is especially true of the child who seems to be slower in picking up things the parents want him to learn.

The slow-starting child needs encouragement and reinforcement, with definite approval for every effort he puts forth, every minor achievement. This approval must be sincere, for a child can sense it otherwise.

When this child enters school, parents again must be careful to encourage him, but not expect him to go faster than he can go. If he was late in developing in other ways, he may be late in reading, too. But he can be successful in time if he is not made to feel inferior by his family.

All the things that one does with other children need to be done more carefully and over a longer period of time with the late blooming child: opportunities to help Mother find the things she needs in the supermarket, talking about street signs along the way, pointing out the differences and similarities in sounds and shapes.

Quite often an older child in the family, particularly an older sister who is not the impatient type, can be a great help in getting the slow starter underway.

Sometimes a tangible reward will spur the late developer. Perhaps Mother can provide a special treat at lunchtime because he has worked so hard at telling her a story. Or perhaps Mother can take the time to read an extra story to him because he has done so well with his story book.

Homers Sidetrack Cardinals

Perhaps a change of scenery will put the St. Louis Cardinals and Kansas City Royals onto the winning track. Both were again sidetracked Thursday.

Montreal outbombed the Cards, 8—6, sparked by home runs off the bats of pitcher Howie Reed, Jose Laboy and Bob Bailey, and three hits apiece by Ron Fairly and Rusty Staub. Joe Toree homered for the Cards while Curt Flood, with three hits, was the only Redbird to get more than one safety.

Oakland edged the Royals, 3-2, on Reggie Jackson's two-run homer, his 28th of the season, and Danny Caater's run-scoring double in the seventh. The Royals scored on an error and Bob Oliver's first inning triple and Pat Kelly's fifth inning solo homer.

The change of scenery today moves St. Louis into Wrigley Field at Chicago against the front-running Cubs of the National League's East Division. Steve Carlton will be on the mound for the Cards in hope of putting his eighth victory of the year into the books against five setbacks. The Cubs will counter with ten-game winner Ken Holtzman, the loser of record in only one game.

Kansas City settles down in the friendly, but often more friendly to the opposition, confines of Municipal Stadium to begin a 12-game home stand tonight. The Royals' first series in the current appearance before home town fans is with Minnesota, who leads the Oakland A's in the American League's West Division by one-half game. Dick Drago will start for the Royals and Dick Woodson for the Twins.

Cooney, L & W Post Softball Victories

By DALE A. LEWIS

Cooney Equipment unloaded 17 hits good for 16 runs in only five innings last night to upset Barkett's Big Star 16 to 6 in City softball action at City Park.

Randy Walker was the big gun for Cooney, chalking up a perfect 4 for 4 at the plate, including two, two-run homers, while driving in seven runs.

Winning only its second game to go with six losses, Cooney made short work of Barkett's, batting around the lineup in the firs inning and shoving across six runs. Two more runs in the second, five in the third, and three in the fifth put in effect the 10-run rule and the game ended after five complete innings.

Ken Dowdy hit a two-run homer in the first for Barkett's, but the damage had already been done and the Big Star team went down to its fifth loss of the season to go with three victories.

In the nightcap, Sikeston Light & Water, after losing its first game of the season the night before, played cat and mouse with Presley Travel Trailers for three innings before unloading with ten runs the last four innings and waltzing to a 14 to 4 win.

It was all tied at 4-all at the end of three before L & W came to bat in the fourth and promptly scored five runs on two walks, three errors, and three hits.

Wayne Cowell had a perfect night at the plate for L & W, driving in five runs with a double, triple, and two-run homer in three trips. G. Hatley hit a solo homer in the second inning for Presley.

Tonight at City Park, it's Barkett's Big Star versus the Bank of Sikeston at 7 p.m., and Sikeston Motor Company hosting Budweiser in the 8:30 p.m. contest. Bleachers have now been erected at the City Park Ballfield, so for fun under the lights, a cordial invitation to come on out and watch how the softball game is played.

Students Named To Dean's List

CAPE GIRARDEAU — A total of 398 students have been named to the dean's honor list for the spring semester at Southeast Missouri State College.

Those receiving the recognition must achieve a 3.5 grade point average on at least 14 semester hours of classwork and can receive no grade below a "C."

At the end of the fall semester of the school year just ended, 350 students were listed for the honor.

A student's grade point average is figured by dividing the total hours of classwork he attempts into the total number of quality points earned. Each hour of "A" gives him four quality points, each hour of "B" three points, and so forth.

Thus, a grade report of straight "A"' comes out to a 4.0 average, s raight "B's" represents 3.0, straight "C's" 2.0. At least a 2.0 average in all course-work attempted is required for graduation.

Students named included:

Malden - Mary B. Folks, major, social studies, 3.5, senior.

Morehouse- Victoria J. Schindler, major, none listed, 3.8 junior; John C. Shoptaw, major, mathematics, 4.0- junior.

Delay Denied On Cigarette Ad Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite pleas from the tobacco industry and over the objection of its chairman, the Federal Trade Commission is going ahead with hearings on a tough, new cigarette smoking warning.

The FTC Wednesday rejected, by a 3-2 vote, a move to postpone the hearings until after Congress takes some action on the smoking-health controversy.

The vote paved the way for the FTC to open hearings next Tuesday with testimony from antismoking witnesses, led by Surgeon General William S. Stewart and his predecessor, Dr. Luther L. Terry.

Rejecting the postponement were Commissioners Philip Elman, Mary Gardiner Jones and James M. Nicholson. FTC Chairman Paul Rand Dixon and Commissioner Everett MacIntyre favored a delay.

The hearings will deal with a proposed trade regulation requiring all cigarette advertising —in newspapers and magazines as well as television and radio commercials—to state clearly and prominently:

"Cigarette smoking is dangerous to health and may cause death resulting from cancer, coronary heart disease, chronic bronchitis, pulmonary emphysema and other diseases."

Supporting this claim Tuesday will be Stewart; Terry, now chairman of the National Interagency Council on Smoking and Health; Dr. Charles F. Tate, associate professor of medicine at the University of Miami; Dr. Lewis E. January, representing the American Heart Association; Dr. Sol R. Baker, chairman of the American Cancer Society's Committee on Tobacco and Cancer.

Dr. Robert H. Browning, National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association; Dr. Fred G. Bock, New York State Department of Health; and Bentley J. Bleem, president of Smoke Watchers International.

Purposely, the FTC set the beginning of the hearings as soon as possible after the expiration of the 1965 Cigarette Labeling Act.

That law, which expires Monday, required the relatively mild warning—"Caution: Cigarette Smoking May Be Dangerous to Your Health."

The House, with the support of tobacco state congressmen, already has passed a bill that proposes the label, "Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined that Cigarette Smoking is Dangerous to Your Health and May Cause Cancer and Other Diseases."

The bill would expire July 1, 1975, and would continue to bar the FTC and other regulatory agencies from taking actions beyond the package warning.

But it faces an uncertain fate in the Senate where Chairman Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., has indicated his Senate Commerce Committee will conduct lengthy hearings.

H. Thomas Austern, chairman of the Tobacco Institute, had urged the FTC to delay action on grounds it would be too heavy a burden to prepare testimony for both the FTC and the Senate committee.

Dixon, who supported the proposed trade regulation, voted to go along and postpone the FTC hearing. MacIntyre has sought all along for the commission to take no action, pending a decision in Congress.

Construction Begins on State Dining Room

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Construction began Monday at Southeast Missouri State College on a 5,000 square-foot supplementary dining room for a four-building dormitory complex known as Towers.

The dining room, which will consist of a small area seating 75 and a large area seating 150, is being constructed on the ground level in the middle of the dormitories, which together house about 1,500 students. The job is expected to take about five months to complete.

Main dining room for the complex is located just above the addition.

General contract was awarded to Crites & Sailer Construction Co. of Cape Girardeau on a bid of $111,780. Contract for the kitchen equipment went to Ford Equipment and Contracting Co. of St. Louis on a bid of $17,500.

A spokesman for the firm said the large dining area will be 37 feet by 60 feet, while the small area will be 18 feet by 50 feet. Normally there will be access between the two areas, but soundproof sliding doors will make it possible to divide the addition into two rooms.

The large dining room will have a coffered ceiling, quarry tile floor and rough cedar walls.

The Fine Arts Commission is concerned only in an advisory capacity with the federal government's art treasures, including memorial paintings and statuary.

Highway 25 Improvements Scheduled for 1971-73

MALDEN — Timetables for planned improvements for Route 25 in Stoddard and Dunklin counties remain unchanged from those reported on Feb. 13, 1969.

A that time, William H. Shaw, District 10 SHD engineer, Sikeston, reported that work would likely be started in 1971 on resurfacing of the highway from south of Dexter to north of Malden; and from south of Malden to McGuire. Shaw at that time said that the McGuire Holcomb project would likely get underway in 1972.

Residents of the Malden - Bernie - Dexter area had hoped that this timetable could be speeded up. Recently a delegation headed by Charles Clodfelter of Dexter, chairman of the Highway 25 Association, and Mayor Sparrel Davis of Malden appeared before the State Highway Commission seeking a speedup.

The Commission apparently is holding to its earlier plan as The Missouri Weekly, Kennett, in its Saturday edition gave similar timetable as had been reported previously in the Malden Press-Merit.

The Missouri Weekly quoted James R. Turner, chief engineer for the Highway Planning Division, as saying that 11 improvement projects are scheduled with all contracts to be awarded within three years. He did say that some portions of the highway will be improved within a briefer period of time.

Turner said the cost of the 11 proposed projects would include $163,000 for preliminary engineering; $776,000 for the acquisition of right-of-way; and $4,058,000 for actual construction costs along the 65-mile stretch from White Oak to a point just south of Delta.

All the construction work on Highway 25, Turner explained, would consist of what the department calls "high-type pavement," which means asphaltic concrete similar to paving on south Highway 25 between Kennett and Cardwell. In addition, the highway, except for slightly narrower dimensions on the northern portion of Highway 25, will be 24 feet in width, extending from White Oak to Aquilla, north of Bloomfield. Certain portions of the highway, from Aquilla to Delta, will be 22 and 20-foot widths.

Turner explained that all of Highway 25 in the Bootheel, however, will be 24 feet in width and will include improved and enlarged shoulders. Present widths vary from 18 to 19 feet.

Now under construction are two projects — resurfacing of Highway 25 through the city of Malden, and relocation of Highway 25 through Bernie.

A contract will be let in the next few months for a four-mile resurfacing project from Bloomfield north to Aquilla. Specifications for this project will call for high-type asphaltic concrete surface of 24-foot width.

Within one year the department will begin preliminary engineering and right-of-way acquisition of all of the unimproved remaining portions of Highway 25, Turner explained. He estimated this would require 12 months to complete.

In 1971, the department will let contracts for three sizeable Highway 25 projects, including a four-mile stretch from McGuire corner, south of Malden, to the Malden city limits. The McGuire corner is the intersection of Highways 25 and 62.

A second project will include an eight-mile stretch from north of Malden to Bernie. A third project scheduled for 1971 includes a seven-mile stretch from Bernie to Dexter.

In 1972, the department will let contracts for three widening projects and two reconstruction projects running north from White Oak to McGuire corner. This will mark one of the major portions of Highway 25 to be improved with changes being made in the present route of Highway 25 at two locations.

A second 1972 project will be reconstruction of the route thru the city of Malden, extending from the south city limits to the Malden Industrial Park, located north of the city. The reconstruction will go to the west of the present Highway 25 location, Turner said.

A third project that year will be from a point near Aquilla to the Stoddard - Cape Girardeau County line, while a fourth project will include widening and improving the route from the two-county boundary line to a point south of Delta.

All of the work being proposed by the Highway Planning division will come under the Highway Commission's primary road system program, most of which has tentatively been approved for the next five years.

Turner said all of the work will be started within the next three years, barring some change in economic conditions or an equally drastic change in construction costs.

The major Highway 25 improvement program marks the first time definite plans have been drawn and released by the department for the unimproved 65-mile stretch of Highway 25 from White Oak to Delta.

Gas Tax Hike Bid Defeated

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri House rejected a plan to boost the motor fuel tax Wednesday.

It was a second round for the House on an issue it had approved earlier. But this time as the hours slipped by the House rejected on a voice vote a two-cent increase in the tax—from the present levy of 5 cents a gallon—and on a 66-67 roll call vote it defeated even a one-cent increase.

The action leaves only one road building proposal before the legislature, a Senate-passed constitutional amendment that would permit the use of state highway funds for construction of toll roads.

That's the first recommendation of Gov. Warren E. Hearnes last January. Dead during this session are House - passed toll road plans and one to issue road building bonds with a tax increase to pay for them.

In a night session the House got embroiled in a teacher tenure bill but had to lay it over because of opposition.

Interlaced in the argument was whether the House Appropriations chairman, Rep. E.J. (Lucky) Cantrell, D-Overland, should wear a tie and have his shirt collar buttoned if he is on the House floor.

There was no final decision but the night session was upset.

Sent to the governor were bills to raise the salaries of county treasurers, increase fees for licensing chiropractors and set up a new fee system for the St. Louis County sheriff's office.

COMMUNISM AND CRIMINALS

HAVANA (AP) — When six members of a burglary ring were sentenced recently to prison terms ranging from three to thirty years, the trial drew a large crowd and there was vigorous applause when the convictions were announced.

Thus reported the Communist Party newspaper, "Granma," commenting that the applause showed "an unmistakable sign that the people are in a state of alert in this fight to the death against delinquincy."

Charles Henson, formerly in charge of the WPA warehouse here and long a resident in Sikeston, was all but scalped while at work in Poplar Bluff, where he has been working with the WPA for some time. He was driving a city dump truck up a hill in the city Friday morning when the engine stalled. The brakes would not hold, so the truck plunged backward down the hill and struck a tree. Besides the scalp injury, an ear was almost torn off and one leg and both arms were badly bruised. Physicians at the Poplar Bluff hospital spent three hours applying 200 stitches to the scalp.

Malone Theatre, today, returned showing of "Jesse James" starring Tyrone Power, Henry Fonda, Nancy Kelly and Randolph Scott. Tomorrow, Claudette Colbert and Don Ameche in "Midnight" with John Barrymore, Francis Lederer and Mary Aster.

Cigarette Maker Not Liable for Death

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Stoggy smoked cigarettes as if his life depended upon it. As soon as one weed went out, he lit another. Finally, after many years, he went out. He developed lung cancer and died.

Heartbroken, Stoggy's widow sued the manufacturer of the brand of cigarettes her erstwhile husband had loyally smoked over the years for causing Stoggy's untimely demise.

"When a manufacturer sells a product for human consumption," she complained in court, "It's supposed to be wholesome and fit. The only thing those cigarettes were fit for was to cause lung cancer."

"There was nothing wrong with out cigarettes," was the manufacturer's defense. "The trouble was with Stoggy. He died. The fact is, our cigarettes are as good as any other cigarette."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you hold the cigarette manufacturer liable for Stoggy's death for manufacturing a product that was unwholesome and unfit?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held, in effect, that the manufacturer's cigarettes were basically the same as any other cigarettes and were as wholesome and fit as cigarettes can be expected to be. That as far as cigarettes go, concluded the judge, there was nothing defective in the manufacturer's product.

A strong dissent, however, urged that any product that causes cancer, such as cigarettes, should be deemed unfit even though some escape death from smoking them. Smoking cigarettes, suggested the dissent, in tantamount to play Russian roulette with lives.

One set of Project No. MO 34-1 documents may be obtained from the Architect upon deposit of $50.00, check made payable to Stanley Brown, Architect, 4012 Cedar Springs Road, Dallas, Texas. Additional sets of plans and specificiations may be obtained from the Architect upon the payment of the sum of $35.00, which will not be refunded. Subcontractors and material suppliers may obtain plans and specifications at an outright purchase amoung of $35.00 per set.

Deposits will be returned to all bona fide bidders if the contract documents are returned in good condition to the office of the Architect within ten (10) days after bid opening date. Contract documents furnished to those who do not submit a bona fide bid will only be returned 50% of the deposit, if the contract documents are returned in good condition within ten (10) days of bid opening date to the office of the Architect.

A certified check or bank draft, payable to the Local Authority, U. S. Government bond, or a satisfactory bid bond executed by the bidder and acceptable sureties in the amount equal to five (5) percent of the bid shall be submitted with each bid. The successful bidder will be required to furnish and pay for satisfactory performance and payment bond or bonds.

Attention is called to the fact that not less than the minimum salaries and wages set forth in the specifications must be paid on this project, and that the contractor must perform with his own forces at least the construction branches of structural concrete and carpentry.

The Local Authority reserves the right to reject any or all bids or to waive any informalities in the bidding.

No bid shall be withdrawn for a period of sixty (60) days subsequent to the opening of bids without the consent of the local Authority.

Today In U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, June 27, the 178th day of 1969. There are 187 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1950, President Harry S. Truman ordered the U.S. Air Force and Navy to help repel an invasion of theRepublic of Korea by North Korea.

On this date:

In 1652, New York City, then New Amsterdam, passed a law against speeding. The ruling applied to wagons, carts and sleighs.

In 1844, Morman leaders Joseph and Hyrum Smith were killed by a mob in Carthage, Ill. Brigham Young became head of the church.

In 1847, telegraph service began between New York and Boston.

In 1893, prices collapsed on the New York Stock Exchange, setting off a major economic depression. Seventy-four railroads declared bankruptcy in the year that followed.

In 1963, President John F. Kennedy was receiving an enthusiastic reception during a visit to Ireland.

Ten years ago: The World Council of Churches called for support of a United Nations proposal for an all-out effort to aid refugees.

Five years ago: Henry Cabot Lodge, leaving South Vietnam as U.S. ambassador, said he was confident that a formula had been found to defeat the Communists.

One year ago: The Soviet Union said it was ready to open discussions about a mutual limitation of antiballistic missile systems.

Drowning Victim's Rites Saturday

HAYTI — Services for Dennis Moody, 13, who drowned Wednesday in the Mississippi river, will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Osburn Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Rudolph Hickerson officiating.

Burial will be in Wardell Memorial Cemetery.

Moody, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Moody, Houston, Tex., drowned 14 miles north of Caruthersville at a place known as 14-Mile Bend.

The youth's body was found at 5:45 p.m. by friends. He drowned at 2 p.m.

OBITUARY

MRS. DELORES SMITH

MOREHOUSE — Mrs. Delores Smith, 65, died at 11 p.m. Thursday in the Missouri Delta Community hospital in Sikeston following an illness of two years.

She was born Jan. 24, 1904 in Monee, Ill., and was a member of the General Baptist church. Her husband, Oscar Smith Sr., preceded her in death.

Survivors include five sons: Oscar Smith Jr. and Robert Gordon Smith, both of St. Louis, George William Smith, Sikeston, James Noel Smith, St. Charles, and Donald Richard Smith, Killeen, Tex.; five daughters, Mrs. Magdeline Henson, Morehouse, Mrs. Velva Parrish, Sikeston; Mrs. Sarah Wilson, North Rideville, Ohio, Mrs. Peggy Murdy, Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Vida Keeling, Park Forrest, Ill.; one sister, Mrs. Edna Jones, South Haven, Mich., 26 grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

The body is at Nunnelee Funeral Home.

E. E. Grant

Grant Will Join Bank

E.E. "Chuck" Grant, 501 Sikes Ave., has been named assistant vice president at Security National Bank.

In making the announcement, President Jack Hogan said Grant's duties will be primarily in business development and public relations. He will begin work Tuesday.

Grant has been associated with the Missouri State highway department and Grant Oil Company. A Sikeston native, Grant attended public schools in Sikeston and Southeast Missouri State College in Cape Girardeau.

He and his wife, Joan, and son, Chip, attend the Tanner Street Church of God.

Mink Replacing Fox

Mink has replaced the silver fox in American fashion styles. Less than 10,000 silver fox pelts are now produced annually, as against a yearly production of about six million ranch-raised mink today.

has a responsibility to improve the dialogue between adults and youths.

3. Preparing youth for professions after graduation, is the responsibility of the community. In high school youth should have the benefit of business advisors, counselors and experts in various fields. Business men should have training programs to assist students.

4. Communities should sponsor recreational programs and camps, using qualified high school and college students to help, with the program being available for youth of all races, colors and creeds.

5. There should be a joint committee, composed of youth and adults, which should coordinate youth programs, and a central gathering place for youth should be established with responsibility for operation and maintenance being placed on youth.

6. Communities should endeavor to see that the qualities of moving pictures be improved.

7. Parents should teach children to assume responsibility not only in the home, but in the school.

8. Parents should not over indulge their teenagers by giving them too much money and teenagers should learn the value of money by earning it in useful employment.

9. Constructive action on the part of adults and teenagers will improve the community welfare and destructive act will destroy the welfare of the community.

Truck Driver Killed, Wyatt Bicyclist Hurt in Accidents

A truck driver from Mississippi was killed, and a Wyatt youth riding a bicycle was critically injured in separate accidents last night and early today near Sikeston.

Scott County Coroner Gene Nunelee reported Louie Hudson, 36, Crystal Springs, Miss., was killed instantly when the tractor-trailer truck he was driving ran off the road and overturned at 5:55 a.m. today;

Hudson as northbound on Interstate-55 when the truck he was driving left the exit ramp leading to westbound Interstate 57. three miles east of Sikeston. The truck - carrying a load of frozen chickens -- landed front end first near the base of a 20-foot embankment. The truck's cab was crushed beneath the weight of the trailer like the bellows of an accordion.

Hudson was pinned in the cab until 7:35 a.m. He apparently went to sleep at the wheel, the highway patrol reported. The body was taken to the Nunnelee Funeral Home.

Several hundred boxes of chickens spilled at the wreckage scene when the front end of the trailer ripped.

Another accident resulted in critical injures to James A. Felts, 17, Wyatt, at 10:25 p.m. Thursday on highway 60, three and one-half miles east of Charleston.

Felts was riding a bicycle west on Highway 60 from Wyatt toward a service station operated by his father. He apparently dropped something and was bending over in the middle of one lane of traffic when the accident occurred, State Highway Patrolman Bennie Rapert said.

An eastbound car driven by David Burns, 20, Sikeston, was passing another car when the Felts youth was bending over. Burn's car struck Felts. There apparently wasn't time for the driver to miss the youth, Rapert said.

Felts was taken to the Missouri Delta Community Hospital and transferred by Welsh ambulance to the Baptist Memorial Hospital in Memphis. He suffered mutiple injuries including a broken arm, leg and hip and deep cuts.

Wilson Felts, the injured youth's father, reported today his son suffered a fractured pelvis and shoulder, two broken legs, one broken arm, and one finger was cut off, bruises and cuts.

HIGHWAY PATROLMEN - police and passers-by remove the body of Louie Hudson, a Mississippi truck driver, killed early today on the northeast side of the Interstate 55 and Interstate 57 interchange.

Senate Passes Bill to Ease Auto Inspection

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Relief from the strict motor vehicle inspection law that so upset Missouri motorists at the beginning of the year got another boost Thursday.

The Senate passed and sent to the House its version of a bill to make the law easier to live with.

The bill has been in the legislative works since early in the session when a house subcommittee began listening to hundreds of complaints.

The way it cleared the Senate Thursday it would limit inspection to brakes, lights,signaling devices, steering mechanism and tires. It would specifically exclude wheel alignment—one item that caused many complaints.

It would also stagger registration and inspection of trucks, a requirement that produced a bottleneck under the law when they all had to be inspected and registered in January.

Police Investigate Three Prowler Reports

Darlene Burgess, 842 Ruth, reported to police at 11:19 p.m. Thursday that a prowler had taken a ladder from the shed behind her house and tried to gain entrance through the east window.

Mrs. William Parker, 728 Gladys, reported a prowler to police at 11 p.m., who was inside her house. Mrs. Parker said she saw the suspect run from the house and leap over a back fence.

Mary Patton, 422 Fletcher, reported a prowler at 11:28 p.m. had ripped off the screen of her back door.

William V. Slaten, route four, Sikeston, reported to police Thursday morning that the left front bumper of his 1968 Ford sedan was struck by a white 1966 El Camino. He charged that the vehicle left the scene of the accident. Police identified the driver as Glen M. Cutler, 237 Elm, Dexter, who said he did not know that he had hit Slaten's vehicle. He was cited for careless driving.

The incident occurred when Tate walked by Hasting's fence and the dog reached out and bit him. Hasting said the dog has been vaccinated for rabies.

Howard Melton, 410 Dona, reported to police last night that a white marble bird bath was taken from his front yard. Mounted on the bath is a statue of a girl kneeling with an apron.

Three Arrested

Police made three arrests Thursday:

William Lee Schurenberg, 103 East Malone, was arrested on a charge of disturbing the peace and released on a $100 bond. Helen Eskew, 615 Kathleen, was arrested on the same charge.

Walter Turner Jr., 4891 Rosalie, St. Louis, was arrested on a charge of damaging public property by driving his car on a baseball field.

Stoddard Youth Problems Aired

By E.J. MAYS
State Editor

DEXTER — Youth and adults combined efforts Thursday night in the evaluation of problems important to expedition of the Stoddard County Area President's Little White House Conference on Children and Youth. They prepared for a union Wednesday night with evaluations of Scott and Mississippi counties for an overall presentation.

The tri-county meet will be held at the Sikeston high school with Area Chairman Bill Moore presiding.

The Stoddard County meeting, working under the chairmanship of Joe Welborn of Bloomfield, and with Mrs. Marie Williams, Missouri state chairman, looking on, was directed by Frances Seeburger of Dexter as Youth Chairman and Elizabeth Welborn as the Organizational chairman.

The group delved into the variancies of the present causes of dissesion and protests, carefully examing the following "crucial problems of these crucial times" and asking:

"Where does Your community stand regarding the family, school, church, community and governmental phases of present day living?"

These facets were further broken down into definite examinations, including:

—Does the community provide counseling services to strengthen families?

—Is the school helping to bridge the gap between dependence and independence?

—Does the church emphasize institutional matters over human elements?

—What about the use of alcoholic beverages, drugs and narcotics?

—Is the draft equitable? Should there be alternatives?

—What is being done to promote racial integration and better understanding of cultural differences?

—Is there involvement in policy-making, planning, and implementation of programs by youth to help meet their quest for identity and a a meaningful place in society?

The resolutions, as arrived at and announced by Chairman Welborn, include:

CHURCH (16 adults, 5 youths)

1. The Church should furnish more opportunities to youth to serve in challenging tasks.

2. The Church should not be more concerned with its structure than it is with its ministry.

3. Churches have a need to develop a stronger training program for its membership.

4. There should be formulation of an inter-denominational youth planning committee for breaking down barriers among people and promoting faith and brotherhood.

GOVERNMENT
(14 adults, 6 youths)

1. That the voting age for Missouri should remain at 21.

2. That the age for eligibility for driver's license should remain at 16.

3. That draft regulations should be revised so that every person over the age of 18 should serve in some capacity such as Peace Corps, military, Vista, unless physically or mentally incapable.

4. That the age of youth under the jurisdiction of the Juvenile Court should be raised from the present 17 years to 18 years.

5. Present compulsory school age law should be raised from 16 to completion of high school.

FAMILY (14 adults, 6 youths)

1. Parents need to lend more help to youth groups. An effort should be made to involve entire family interest in learning to communicate with each other.

2. We need to raise the grade level of our society in order to deal with family problems.

3. We need to find ways to devote more study to our own culture, sociology, psychology and anthropology sematics.

4. Schools should endeavor to improve courses in sociology and psychology.

5. There should be a strengthening of family unit.

SCHOOL (11 adults, 11 youths)

1. High school students should be offered one or two courses as electives, to be taught in the manner of college courses.

2. Vocational and technical courses should be increased in secondary schools, but not at the expense of academic courses.

3. Sex education, essential in our society, is the joint responsibility of the home, the church and the school.

4. Instruction in secondary schools should be increased in formal courses in the humanities (art, history, music, literature, drama, and philosophy) and in the physical and natural sciences and mathematics.

5. Increased communication should be urged among students, parents and teachers in grade and secondary schools.

COMMUNITY
(10 adults, 4 youths)

1. Young people should have a voice in helping to plan community programs.

2. Youth, as well as adults

Curfew Ordered In Cairo

CAIRO (AP) — A curfew was reimposed in Cairo Thursday after whites and Negroes squared off on opposite sides of the street and hurled bricks, bottles, rocks and jeers at one another.

Police broke up the encounter quickly. Police Chief William Peterson ordered the 8 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew immediately after the standoff in front of Cairo's police station where some 400 whites had ended a 15-block trek called a mother's march "to demand equal rights for whites."

The marchers, many of them men, were confronted by about 150 Negroes at the police station. Whites lined up on one side of the street and Negroes on the other. The violence broke out after jeers were exchanged. One policeman was injured.

Earlier Thursday, a fire which swept a warehouse complex stretching along five blocks, drove about 3,000 residents out of the area when it was feared chemical fumes released by the blaze might be toxic. They returned to their homes when the fumes proved to be nonpoisonous.

Numerous fires have blazed in Cairo in the past several months — many blamed on arsonists — and officials said that although the cause of the warehouse fire had not been determined, arson was a possibility.

Hearnes to Take Debate Challenge

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes today accepted the invitation of Senate President Pro Tem Earl R. Blackwell to debate the state's fiscal needs on television.

In a letter to the Hillsboro Democrat Hearnes said today he accepted "with pleasure your invitation to discuss our views on state needs on statewide TV."

He said Channel 4-TV (KMOX TV) St. Louis offered its services shortly after Blackwell issued the challenge to the governor. He said the station would make the program available to other stations in Missouri.

Blackwell has insisted the state does not need an income tax increase to continue present services.

Hearnes has asked for an increase in both individual and corporate income taxes, as well as some measures to accelerate the collection of taxes to provide the additional money needed for public school aid, capital improvements at state institutions and new government programs.

The battle between the two Democratic leaders has caused a legislative crisis in the final days of the session.

The debate presumably would have to be produced before the end of the session next Monday at midnight to be of any public value.

Teacher's Art On Display At Cape

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The ground floor of the art-home economics building at Southeast Missouri State College will be the site of an art show Tuesday to July 18 be presented by Mrs. Joyce Miller, art instructor at Sikeston junior high school.

The title of the show is "The Plastic Arts with Primary Emphasis on the Arts of Ceramics and Weaving." It was prepared by Mrs. Miller in connection with her work toward a master of arts degree at State. She plans to complete the degree requirements last summer.

Hours for viewing the show are 7 a.m. - 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Apollo Launch Rehearsal Opens

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Apollo 11 launch crew today started a seven-day countdown rehearsal to determine whether the rocket and spaceship are ready to send men on a moon-landing mission next month.

The rehearsal started at one minute after midnight when several systems aboard the spacecraft were fed electrical power. The first phase is to end next Wednesday with a mock liftoff of the fully fueled Saturn 5 rocket.

The next day, with fuel tanks emptied, the three astronauts are to climb into their spaceship atop the rocket to run through the final hours of a second countdown and several hours of simulated flight.

A successful test will clear the way for Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins to rocket toward the moon July 16.

Retirement Pay Raise Bill Goes To Governor

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The House today passed a bill boosting retirement benefits substantially for legislators and about 25 per cent for other state workers.

The measure now goes to the governor on a 91-62 vote in the House and a 23-10 vote in the Senate earlier.

The base rate for most state workers would be 1 ¼ per cent but for legislators it would be 4 per cent. State workers would pay no more than in the past in contributions but legislators would double their contributions to 8 per cent.

Now, a legislator after 20 years service can retire at age 60 and get $3,600 a year. Under the new formula he can retire at the age of 55 and get $6,720.

Other state employes getting the same pay as legislators, $8,400 a year, would receive only $1,680 a year when retiring after 20 years.

Rep. Richard DeCoster, D-Canton, called it "a raid on the state treasury.

Surtax Stopgap Passes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress completed action today on an emergency bill to continue through July present tax withholding rates pending a decision on extending the 10 per cent income surtax.

The House sent the measure to the President by voice vote. The Senate passed it Wednesday.

Supporters of the withholding extension emphasized that the bill did not commit anyone to support the surtax continuance.

"This is a matter of housekeeping," said Chairman William M. Colmer, D-Miss., of the Rules Committee. Without it, Colmer added, there would be "a lot of confusion" later if the surtax was continued but withholding had ceased.

The surtax, imposed last year, expires at midnight next Monday. Legislation to extend it is pending but has not been acted on by either branch of Congress. The House has scheduled a vote on the controversial proposal for next Monday.

Without the withholding extension, the government and employers would have to stop withholding at present rates starting next Tuesday, and then change the system later if the surtax was continued.

Should the surtax be allowed to die, most taxpayers would get a refund of the money withheld.

Meanwhile, Rep. Richard Fulton, D-Tenn., a member of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee, served notice he would vote against an extension of the surtax

Hearnes Signs 20 More Bills

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes signed 20 bills into law today, including 16 routine revision bills.

One new law will let the Employment Security Division cooperate with non-profit organizations in helping find jobs for unemployed Missourians.

A change in voting requirements in soil and water district elections was signed along with one to extend the time limit on use of federal funds in the unemployment trust fund.

Forest Fires Blanket Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Visibility dropped to less than half a mile over several thousand square miles of interior Alaska as smoke from more than 50 forest fires—ranging in size up to 300,000 acres—blanketed much of the state.

Nearly 1,400 Bureau of Land Management and military firefighters battled to control 15 fires in the Fairbanks district, including a 300,000-acre blaze northwest of the city. The city was in no danger.

At least 30 fires elsewhere were unchecked because of their "low priority" and a lack of manpower, officials said.

Six major fires were burning in the Anchorage district, the bureau said, but the city was not threatened.

Sweet Corn Harvest Begins in Mississippi County

By SHIRLEY PRITCHETT

EAST PRAIRIE — The sweet corn harvest made its advent in Mississippi County this week. Harvesting began yesterday on the W.C. Bryant and H.V. Morrow farms. Processing started at the huge Wendell Choate plant at Dorena.

Some 1,200 acres are expected to be harvested in Mississippi county — the bulk of the Bootheel acreage.

The yield, measured not in bushels, but by crates — each of which contain five dozen, or 60 ears of corn — is expected to run from 270-280 crates per acre, according to Choate, whose sales office at Charleston handles the sale of the product from the Mississippi county area. Gold Cup, Northern Belle, and Silver Queen varieties are grown.

Harvesting, for those uninitiated in gathering the corn, is done by what is known as a "Mule Train" an ungainly device which looks much like the first model of the Wright Brothers airplane.

A wing span of 30 feet protrudes each side of a tractor, which rides behind the train and pushes it. A truck, which will carry the corn to the processor, precedes the train, linked to a conveyor belt that cares for shuttling the packed cases to the truck from the train.

Fourteen work on each side and in front of the train, throwing the ears they pluck from the talks into a bin. A dozen or more packers, riding atop the train platform take, grade, and pack the corn into the crates, under the eyes of department of agriculture graders. These graders reject even the least suspect ears, those cut, or trampled while in the bins.

A cutting machine, much like a regular mowing machine, but with the cutting blade elevated to a near head high position, has preceded the train, cutting the tassle off the stalks.

Once a loaded truck is ready the truck makes the trip to the Dorena processing plant where the product is cooled by being run through pressurized ice water for a period of 50 minutes. Some 12 workers are used in processing and loading the cooled corn into refrigerated trucks.

This year's crop is expected to be one of the best in history before the end of the gathering, which should occur around August 4-5, according to the growers.

The corn is eaten boiled, used as a salad component, fried, roasted and barbecued and is in great demand.

No retail sales are made from the processing plant.

In former years rejected corn, returned to the field, was picked up by residents and used but this is no longer allowed. Instead the corn is disced under as the field is prepared for another crop.

Choate explained that, under the old process of letting persons pick up the undergraded corn, meant to be used for their own consumption, the ungraded product was being sold onto the public market by some of the gatherers, thus giving housewives an inferior product.

THE TRUMANS' GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

When John and Martha Truman moved to Independence, Mo., in December 1890, Martha took the children to the nearest Protestant church, which happened to be the First Presbyterian at Lexington and Pleasant streets. There young Harry, as he tells in his Memoirs, became interested in a young girl who "had golden curls and has, to this day, the most beautiful blue eyes."

The young girl was Bess Wallace, who lived east of the Trumans at the corner of Delaware and Waldo. Truman remembers: "We went to Sunday School, public school from the fifth grade through high school, graduated in the same class, and marched down life's road together. For me she still has the blue eyes and golden hair of yesteryear."

Aside from that homely prose, there is little mention of Bess Truman in the Memoirs. On his return to civilian life after World War I, Truman dutifully reports: "Bess Wallace and I decided to go ahead with our plans for marriage, and we set the day, June 28, 1919, less than eight weeks after I was discharged from the Army. After a wedding trip to Chicago and Port Huron, Mich., we returned to live at 219 North Delaware Street in Independence."

Thus the bare facts of the wedding of two people who were eventually to become among the most devoted couples ever to occupy the White House. They celebrate their Golden anniversary on Saturday, June 28. And the world wishes them well.

THE IMPACT OF REGULATION Z

The Nomenclature is a trifle complicated. The title of the law is the Consumer Protection Act of 1968. Part of it is known as the Truth - in - Lending Act. The rules for its enforcement laid down by the Federal Reserve Board on Feb. 9 are embodied in a document called Regulation Z.

The purpose of the new law is to assure that consumer borrowers– and that includes just about all of us -- be given full information to enable them to shop effectively for credit. In properly understood, its heaviest impact will be on the ghetto, where the cost of credit historically has been high -- often outrageously so -- and the buyers are unsophisticated.

The President's Commission on Civil Disorders in its report of Feb. 29, 1968, found that deceptive sales and credit pracitces were among the 12 bitterest grievances in American ghettos. After July 1 a good many shady sales and credit gimmicks will be either forsworn or outmoded.

The new law is one of the toughest and most far-reaching consumer bills adopted by Congress in many years. It will affect practically all credit or loan dealings the consumer enters into with banks, savings and loan associations, department stores, credit card companies, credit unions, automobile dealers, finance companies, home mortgage brokers, and even plumbers and electricians.

Truth - in - Lending actually is incorporated in Title I of the act. It is essentially a labeling law. Consumer Reports observes: "It provides for meaningful labeling of most kinds of instalment debt, including... consumer credit."

Lenders must provide their customers with full, honest, and -- most importantly - - comparable information about the cost of the credit they are buying. For example, when a bank offers a 5 per cent discount rate on automobile loans, the true annual rate on payments spread over three years is really 11 per cent. When a department store charges a service charge on a revolving charge account of 1-½ per cent a month it comes to 18 per cent a year at the true annual rate. A consumer loan from a personal finance company may have as much as 48 per cent tacked on as a credit charge.

How effective this part of the act will be depends on how well it is publicized. Organizations ranging from the American Bankers Association to the AFL-CIO have been spreading interpretations. The Federal Trade Commission has sent out 750,000 copies of the new law to lenders.

The law provides criminal penalties of up to $5,000 in fines and/ or one year imprisonment for violation of the credit disclosure requirements. Perhaps more meaningful in the ghetto will be two other sections of the Act. Title II provides a fine of up to $10,000 and/or 20 years in prison for loan sharking -- extortionate extension of credit. And Title III sets definite limits on garnishment of weekly wages. Exempted from garnishment will be either 75 per cent of weekly disposable income or an amount equal to 30 times the national minimum wage, whichever is the larger.

The garnishment limitation does not go into effect, however, until July 1, 1970. When it does begin to work, millions of Americans will be freed of fear. In the words of Gilbert B. Friedman, a San Francisco attorney, "the welfare rolls (will) be reduced by the number of families forced into unemployment because their bosses wanted to eliminate unnecessary wage expense."

ON POSTAL CORPORATIONS

A justice of the peace in McLean, Virginia was recently bore the familiar red and white stripes denoting air mail and presented with a letter marked "Postage Due 4 cents". The letter to it was affixed a six-cent stamp. The j.p. paid the fee, knowing that the charge for airmail is currently ten cents.

Then he noticed that the words "Air Mail" were crossed out and that the envelope was postmarked "McLean, Va." When he pointed this out to the post office clerk, he was informed that postal regulations require that air mail envelopes bear the proper postage for air mail delivery, even in cases in which, like the present instance, the letter traveled only from one box in the post office to another in the same office.

We feel to thinking how long a private company would last if it were to operate in this abitrary manner. It wouldn't be long before the Better Business Bureau, Chamber of Commerce, or perhaps a government bureau would be jumping up and down, demanding redress. It could happen in the near future.

President Nixon is attempting to get Congress to approve a plan for a mail agency, set up as a self-financed corporate structure. This is the plan suggested by the Kappel Report in 1968. Strong opposition is expected from certain members of Congress and postal union leaders. Is it that they fear loss of power and influence? Who can tell?We do know, however, that the postal service does need revamping. Costs keep rising and the quality of performance keeps dropping.

It is time to eliminate self-seeking petty bureaucrats and let free enterprise take a crack at the job. To those who defend the status quo with the comment that this "would mean a monopoly," we suggest a look at the telephone companies. Check long distance toll rates twenty years ago as compared with prevailing rates. We may complain about certain aspects of telephone service, but when it is contrasted with mail service it comes out well ahead. Surely the ingenuity which produced the superb system of oral communications we enjoy can meet the task of marking similar improvements in the transmittal of written communications. It's worth a try now.

What about the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation?

The FDIC has worked and worked well for 36 years, and it hasn't cost the taxpayers a dime. Ask any banker about it.

The California Taxpayers' Association observed that, "A negative income tax is often offered as a solution to welfare problems. The first state to try it is New Jersey where an experiment is being run on 80 low income families. The controlled experiment is being financed by a $4 million federal anti-poverty grant. Under the system a minimum level of income would be established. Families below that would be paid from tax money to raise their income to the minimum. The experiment will take three years and should be watched by all governmental entities concerned with taxing or welfare."

NEW YORK (AP) — Thirteen years ago Florence Greenberg was a Passaic, N.J., housewife with two growing teen-age children and a growing feeling herself that she had become trapped by her home chores.

She looked around for something else to do.

"My son Stanley, then only 14, had written a song so I decided to sell it," she recalled. But she found the doors of Manhattan music publishers firmly closed.

"So I decided to go into business myself," said Mrs. Greenberg. All she had to start with was a $30,000 family inheritance and a determination to prove she could do more with her life than keep a house clean.

Today at 51, Mrs. Greenberg, a pleasant-faced woman with brown hair and soft brown eyes, is the only woman president of a major record company. Her firm, Sceptor Records, has turned out some 100 million discs, will take in an estimated $8 million this year, and now has worldwide distribution.

She never did get around to recording the song written by her son, now an executive with her organization. Her first record was "I Met Him on a Sunday," made by the Chirelles, a young Negro rock 'n' roll group discovered by her teenage daughter, Mary Jane.

"That first record cost us only $400 to produce—but it got us off to a good start," said Mrs. Greenberg.

Although her musical background consisted chiefly of a few piano lessons taken in her youth, she found she had a shrewd ability to pick new talent and a natural skill at getting along with people.

She has helped foster the careers of Dionne Warwick, Chuck Jackson, the Isley brothers, B.J. Thomas and many others.

Mrs. Greenberg says she has found it no handicap to be a woman in a business that has been traditionally dominated by men.

"If you are a floozy, men laugh at you. But if you are a decent woman, they will always show courtesy to you and try to give you a break."

This is her advice to other wives who aspire to an escape from household boredom.

"Be sincere in your own ambitions. It is pointless for a woman to stand by her kitchen sink and dream of how she'd like to be Miss America. She must try to do something that reflects her sincere goals."

Mrs. Greenberg was divorced from her accountant husband five years ago and feels that her own success may have been a factor in the breakup of their marriage.

"If a housewife wants to keep her husband happy," she said frankly, "she had better try a small challenge outside the home, not one so big that she becomes a financial competitor of her husband.

"How can you pick up a man after work in a Rolls-Royce and still have him love you as a woman?"

ODD ITEMS: Girls Will Be Boys -- There was a full - page ad in a recent N.Y. Times offering men's hats made by a men's manufacturer to women -- for wear with pant suits. (And believe it or not, many of the male hippies are wearing those big, floppy women's hats!)... One of today's biggest selling fashions has matching shirt, tie and handkerchief. The best rule, however, we think, is to have the tie and handkerchief blend, rather than match.

A NEW POLITICAL WIND

Among other things that are being predicted is that within 10 years 48 per cent of U.S. households will have yearly incomes of $10,000 or more. Many of these new semi-rich citizens will be those holding blue collar jobs and presumably be within the ranks of organized labor. The traditional picture of the labor vote in support of so-called liberal policies of government, which involve higher rates of federal spending, more public welfare programs, and along with them higher taxes, is rapidly changing.

A highly progressive income tax already takes a deep bite out of the average family's paycheck. Policies which involve federal deficits and continuing inflation strike hardest at the average citizen who is earning a good income, paying his way and trying to have something left over to provide for his future.

As more and more Americans reach this state of relative affluence, they will become more and more concerned with preserving the value of their savings. There is every likelihood that this will prove to be a major factorin curbing the unlimited growth of government, and it augurs well for the future of individual freedom in the United States.

SOURCE OF CONSTRUCTIVE OFFICE-HOLDERS

Our Republic USA needs desperately to have the services of the finest young men the nation can offer as public servants. A vast untapped reservoir of the finest possible office-seekers and potential public servants is available among former FBI agents.

Many former FBI agents now occupy positions of prestige in business and civic affairs and are looked up to by all segments of their communities. The vast majority are of the most constructive mind and persuasion.

The nation is experiencing difficulties which in the next several years will tax the ingenuity of its leaders to the utmost. Efforts should be made to persuade the 7,000-plus former FBI agents residing in every section of the nation to take an active role in the affairs of government.

A former agent, who had to be screened from hundreds of applicants on the basis of integrity, character and reputation, has been trained in the bureau's excellent tradition of service to our Republic and its freedom. He becomes a natural for further government service as an office-holder.

Since these former FBI agents are normally Constructives, it would seem that the Nixon Administration could do some excellent recruiting and the local Constructive organizations could have an ideal man who could stand a far better chance of being elected than anyone else they might choose. Failure to send constructive lawmakers to Congress next year's election will result in freedom missing the last chance to effectively reverse the policies of socialism of he past 36 years. By improving the quality of public officials in 1970, the stage will be set for a constructive landslide in 1972, thereby assuring the preservation of Republic USA for the foreseeable future. HLH

By Drew Pearson

DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON SAY: Nixon Boo-Boo Rivals Other Presidents'; White House Busy Denying He Promised Anything; Nixon's Anti-Clifford Remarks Were Planned In Advance

WASHINGTON — President Nixon, who prides himself on being more skillful at televised press conferences than any other president — and probably is — may have pulled a boo-boo comparable to Harry Truman's press conference mistake when he said he might drop the atomic bomb in Korea.

This brought Prime Minister Clement Attlee flying across the Atlantic from London the next day. Likewise Nixon's staff has been rushing out statements ever since his press conference, denying that he meant what he said when he indicated that he'd developed a better approach to ending the war than his critics from the Johnson administration, and that he hoped to bring American troops home, faster than ex-Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford suggested.

However, the impact left on the public mind by the initial presidential statement is usually the one which lasts. And it's possible that this press conference will be a turning point for peace. In brief, Nixon is probably stuck with his remark in which he out-Clifforded Clark Clifford.

Specifically, here is what President Nixon said when asked about Clifford's suggestion that 100,000 troops be pulled out of South Vietnam by the end of this year:

—WHAT NIXON SAID—

"I respet his judgment as a former secretary of defense. I would point out, however, that for five years in the administration in which he was Secretary of Defense in the last part, we had a continued escalation of the war; we had 500,000 Americans in Vietnam; we had 35,000 killed; we had over 200,000 injured.

"And in addition to that, we found that in the year — the full year in which he was secretary of defense — our casualties were the highest of the whole five-year period. And as far as negotiations were concerned, all that had been accomplished — as I indicated earlier — was that we had agreed on the shape of the table.

"Now this is not to say that Mr. Clifford's present judgment is not to be considered because of the past record.

"It does indicate, however, that he did have a chance in this particular respect, and did not move on it then.

"I believe that we have changed that policy. We have started to withdraw forces. We will withdraw more. And another decision will be made in August. I will not indicate the number because the number will depend upon the extent of the training of the South Vietnamese, as well as developments in Paris, and the other factors that I have mentioned previously.

"As far as how many will be withdrawn by the end of this year, by the end of next year, I would hope that we could beat Mr. Clifford's timetable, just as I think we've done a little better than he did when he was in charge of our national defense."

—THE REACTION—

The immediate reaction to the President's statement was twofold:

1. His friends and aides gloated over the manner in which he had cut the ground out from under Clifford. They said it was such a neat piece of decapitation that the former Secretary of Defense wouldn't realize his head was cut off until he tried to turn it.

2. Every newspaper in the country the next day played up the President's expectation of bringing back more troops than Clifford proposed. The New York Times led with page one headlines, "President hopes pullout will top 200,000 before 71."

It's learned from inside the White House that Mr. Nixon rehearsed his reply to Clark Clifford. He knew the question would be asked; in fact, White House aides had the question planted, and it was asked early in the press conference.

Therefore, it's obvious that Mr. Nixon deliberately planned to cut the political ground out from under Clifford. But the big question is, did he go too far?

Everyone from senators to diplomats and from newsmen to politicians has been debating that question. The chief worry in the White House is that Nixon cut the ground out not only from under Clifford but also his own negotiators in Paris, and that the North Vietnamese are not going to budge further toward concessions as long as they know Nixon is committed to massive troop withdrawals.

Only time can tell what will happen in Paris. However, it's pretty well agreed that President Nixon made a prodigious mistake.

His friends point out that other presidents have also made mistakes, which is true. In addition to Truman's boner regarding the use of the atomic bomb in Korea, he also once got Yugoslavia mixed up with Czechoslovakia, and the White House had to issue a correction.

Then there was the very serious error made by President Harding when he got the Japanese-mandated islands of the Pacific mixed up with the Japanese home islands and the entire Washington Treaty had to have a protocol added to clarify this point.

There were also small errors in Eisenhower's press conferences chiefly resulting from long, rambling sentences. The late president had a passion for pxolixity.

But neither Eisenhower, Truman nor Johnson, it should be noted, considered himself a star on television.

Threat To Government?

Air Controllers Sudden "Sickness" May Trigger Unprecedented Federal Strikes

Washington, D.C.: -- Airports are not for sleeping. Yet, the other night thousands of children, Europe-bound vacationers and pre-ulcer businessmen hit the benches, floors and even washrooms as improvised-bedding places. In New York, airline executives tore at receding hairlines as theyey learned that 1,000 flights were being delayed, 300 were not taking off at all and losses were running roughly at $5 million daily.

There was what commercial aviation experts described as "chaos" backlashing from delays in the port of New York on through Europe and Asia as well as the U.S.

This resulted from the "strike" that wasn't. This was the creeping paralysis caused by members of the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization, (PATCO) a union which says it isn't. And, PATCO is counseled by that instant labor lawyer, F. Lee Bailey, specialist in murder trails.

There's more here than the melodramatic F. Lee Bailey and his clients, who talk continually about all of America's commercial aviation sitting on "a time bomb." There's more here than even Secretary of Labor Shultz sitting in an airplane shuttle on a New York airstrip for almost three hours.

The critical issue here is woven into the fact that the 240 radar room specialists who called in "sick" are federal employes of the Federal Aviation Administration. If they or their 6,000 other colleagues strike they commit a felony. They can be fined. They can go to prison. They can be deprived of considerable civil rights, if convicted, under the felony laws.

The "sick" traffic controllers apparently acted in concert. And as one of the nation's three or four authorities on the federal labor laws, Dave Cole, said the other day, "acting in concert also is a violation of the federal anti-strike laws." Let's hold this for a moment. Let's see why they struck -- or rather "went sick."

I talked with PATCO's board chairman, Mike Rock, an intense man obviously angered and obviously dedicated to his followers. He and counselor Bailey are the strategists. Mr. Rock said quite firmly that the nation's air traffic controllers (men who guide commercial planes in and out of the airport) have been working 10 hours a day, six days a week for the past three years. They're tired. They want heavy recruitment to supply relief staffs.

Mr. Rock says that instrument room equipment is of hoop skirt vintage. Some of the radar and instruments, says he, now in use were taken of aircraft carriers after the second world war. The control towers and their equipment adds he, are for yesterday's DC-3's and are being used in the 340-seat Losing-747 craft soon to launched by Pan American World Airways. The DC-3 can make a top "speed" of 200 miles an hour. Today's commercial jet can wing at 700 miles an hour.

And, says he, there is no back-up system. If the radar goes dead, "we lose those planes flying in at 500 to 600 miles an hour. We have been asking for modern radar frequencies tharat work. And here we are working in 1940 tempo.'

And when FAA chief John Shaffer testified that the government and the PATCO fellows (and members of other federal employes unions) were not as pressed as they made it sound, some of the men "got plain sick" says Mr. Rock. Kennedy International Airport accepted but 17 arrivals an hour instead of the usual 45 to 50. Some Pan-Am flights were diverted to Canada.

Now from the FAA comes word that the government is working on computering, recruiting and remunerating swiftly. The controllers are the only federal employes who get time and a half for overtime says FAA. The Academy at Oklahoma City is turning out men as quickly as they can be enlisted. Higher pay now can run to $22,000 annually.

There is a budget problem. Certainly there is an air controller personnel problem. But as the respected Dave Cole – to whom U.S. presidents have turned for advice for two decades – puts it: what of the public interest? And he asks what of the critical problem of strikes agains he federal government?

Mr. Cole recalls no other "federal sector" strike action. Thus this PATCO action is the first such job action on record (except for a handful of meterologists or postman or two).

"The law stipulates," says mediator Cole" that an individual lmay not accept or hold a position in the government of the U.S. . . . if he advocates overthrow of the constitutional form of government, or if he participates in a strike or even asserts the right to strike against the government, or if he is a member of an organization which makes such an assertion. Whoever violates the provisions of section 7311 shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than one year and a day or both."

"What does Mr. Lee Bailey say about this," asks Mr. Cole, who believes that the instant illness and instant recovery were concerted actions and thus in violation of the federal law.

"What is the responsibility of a lawyer advising federal employes in the face of this law?"asks Mr. Cole. "There has been no previous violation of this law. I ask what is the responsibility of the federal employe? What is the responsibility of an attorney advising such employes?

"And what about the public interest as reflected in these laws?How do you balance the inequities of the employes with the inequities heaped on the public by such action?"

There you have it. This sudden "sickness" may be more than an inconvenience. It may be the forerunner of federal strikes.

The Gospel Visitor

By: REEDUS M. BAUGHER

For the past few weeks we have been studying the attitude of Christ, regarding God's scriptures. I feel this study has been worth while and profitable to those wishing to follow Jesus Christ. Much more could be said, but for now we will conclude this line of study, by a review of what we have said, and some concluding thoughts.

We noticed that Jesus believed the scriptures to be: (1) Historically Reliable; by refering to such places and events as, Jonah and the whale, Noah and the flood, the queen of Sheba and her visit to Solomon. (Matt. 12:40; 24:37-39; 12:41-41). (2) Literally Accurate; by making an argument on the tense of a verb as found in, Exodus 3:6. His point was, God said, "I am" rather than, "I was" (Matt. 22:23-32). (3) For Doctrine (Every Scripture); by the answer He gave Satan, and denouncing the Pharisees' and Scribes overlooking the "weightier matters" in preference for the smaller things, He said they ought to have done it all. (Matt. 4:4; 23:23). (4) Sacred, and must be respected; by condemning the traditions of men, and the answer He gave the rich young ruler inquiring what to do to have eternal life? His answer was, "Keep the commandments." (Matt. 15:1-9; 19:16).

Thus Christ has set the pattern of attitude for all those claiming to follow Him. He was throughly acquainted with he scriptures, applying them to every situation of life. (Matt. 4:4). The pattern has been set, we cannot claim respect for the life and teaching of Christ, without imitating His attitude of respect for the Holy scriptures. There are a lot of issues which can be raised that have absolutely no bearing on the right or wrong of anything. Always remember the attitude of Christ and go to God's word for your answers.

Jesus has said, we must believe in Him. (Jno. 8:24) All must repent, (Luke 13:3). And also confess Him. (Matt. 10:32) And be baptized, for remission of sins. (Matt. 28:19; Luke 24:48) He also said, "I will build my church." (Matt. 16:18), Plus, many other things as, "The scripture cannot be broken." (Jno. 10:34).

MOREHOUSE — "Look What's Happening to Religion" was the title of the program presented to the Woman's Society of Christian Service which met Monday, at 2:00 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Nelson Gruen.

Mrs. F.A. Mitchell had charge of the program.

Three guests, Mrs. E.B. Bridges, Mrs. Fred Geske, and Miss Selma Gruen of Sikeston were present.

Mrs. Mitchell employed visual aids of maps, "a talking napkin", clippings from newspapers and a recording, to show the many forms religion uses to meet the needs of the world and community.

For examples: the Sikeston First Methodist Church is sponsoring the center with emphasis to meet the needs of the elder citizens. In Ankora, Turkey, the Christian Church is working with the Muslims who dominate that country as they up-date their civilization instead of staying behind as so many countries seem content to do.

Members present were Mrs. Joe Barnett, Mrs. Veda Cook, Mrs. Lois McWilliams, Mrs. Chas. Allbright, Mrs. Frank Kesler, Mrs. Wm. Crumpecker, Mrs. Bill Dillon, Mrs. Mitchell, and the hostess.

Following the prayer of St. Francis of Assisi, given by Mrs. Mitchell, the ladies enjoyed a social hour.

Mission Group Meeting Notes

The morning current mission group of the First Baptist Church met with Mrs. Fred Matthews with nine members and one new member present.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. Dan Black, remembering the missionaries on the calendar of prayer.

The program "Responding to the Physical Needs in Korea", was given by Mrs. R.L. Guthrie, Mrs. Bill Winstead, Mrs. Melvin Rodgers, Mrs. J.N. Walker and Mrs. Black.

The business was presided over by the group leader, Mrs. Dan Murchison, the group donated $5.00 to help purchase a silver tray to be used in the fellowship hall of the church. Each member signed a birthday card to be sent to Mrs. R.M. Alsup, an extension member.

Mrs. Glenn Cracraft closed the meeting with prayer.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Rodgers.

QUICK QUIZ

Q—What is the legend regarding the bloodstone?

Keep the kitchen cool with this easy fish skillet dish. Partially defrost 1 package (1 pound) frozen fish fillets; separate into pieces. In skillet simmer 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce with onions, ½ cup water, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, ½ teaspoon salt and 1/8 teaspoon pepper 5 minutes. Add fish; simmer, covered, 10 minutes or just until fish flakes easily. Makes 4 servings.

Ann Landers

Grandfather's Love Creates Jealousy

Dear Ann Landers: We adore our four grandchildren. My husband is completely devoted to them, especially the two little boys. Grandpa has been like a father to them. Their mother considers it a blessing since their own father was never very attentive to his young family.

Now that the children are getting more articulate it is apparent that they love Grandpa very much. Their own father has decided this love is "unhealthy" because Grandpa is getting old (he's 60) and he may die one of these days. According to their father, the children will suffer severe emotional trauma unless they diminish contact with the old gentleman. He want to "spare them" by limiting Grandpa's visits to once every ten days.

Is our son-in-law right? If you say so we will accept their decision. — Sad

Dear Sad: You must accept their decision no matter what I say. The wishes of the parents must prevail, not those of the grandparents or of Ann Landers.

If it's my opinion you want, here it is: The love children get from a Grandpa is a special kind of love. Their father should be grateful for it, I suspect your son-in-law resents the affection his children feel for Gramps. How unfortunate that he views Gramps as a competition instead of an added dimension in the lives of his youngsters.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been married 21 years. We have a wide circle of friends and have done a good job of raising three splendid children. I would say our marriage is better than most.

About four months ago I received three telephone calls from friends who wanted me to know they were so sorry to hear that Fred and I are getting a divorce. Fred received two such calls at his place of business. Neither of us can figure out who started the story.

Yesterday I received another such call. Apparently the rumor has started again. Is there any way we can trace these completely false stories? Why start them? Why? Wonderment

Dear Won: Don't waste your time and energy trying to track down rumors. It's futile, unrewarding, frustrating and pointless.

Who starts them? It could be anybody. Why? Envy probably.

Dear Ann: Those parents who allowed their 15-year-old son to entertain his girl friend in his bedroom for three hours before dinner (with the door closed) and then allowed them to return to the bedroom after dinner, must be nuts.

Don't parents realize that today a 14-year-old kid knows more about sex than his parents knew at 20? When my brother was 16, he explained to Mom and Dad what homosexuals were and how they got that way. They were SHOCKED

Tell parents to get with it, Ann. Last year two of my girl friends had abortions in Europe and one nearly died because she tried to abort herself. They were all 14 and from so-called "better families." — D. Troit

Dear Troit: I don't need to tell'em. You did. But good. Thanks.

Do you feel ill at ease . . . out of it? Is everybody having a good time but you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key To Popularity," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Mystery Is The Keynote For Greek Designer

NEW YORK (AP) — Drape them anywhere but on a woman and the fall fashion creations of Greek-born designer George Stavropoulos look more like experiments in geometry than the stuff high style is made of.

But put them on a woman and they come alive.

One of Stavropoulos's most complicated productions is the "puzzle pants," a one-piece affair that starts down the shoulder like a cape, then somehow turns into a jumpsuit with two flouncy skirts of chiffon. It looks and moves like a dream.

Mystery is the keynote of Stavropoulos's seamless coat—both for the way it makes a woman look and for the way it was made. The single round piece of black wool somehow sprouts a stand-up collar while swirling around into a diagonal row of buttons in the front.

Stavropoulos unveiled his fall designs Wednesday at the American Designer Showings. And when it wasn't dramatic, this Greek-inspired collection was at the very least alluring.

Proving he's willing to go mod as well as traditional, Stavropoulos completed his collection with a brushed blue wool coat and matching skirt that ended halfway up between the knee and ankie.

The young, free, bold look—by way of the 1930s—dominated the fall offerings of Gayle Kirkpatrick, who designed with the long and lean in mind.

Deep-colored satin minidresses and shirts were sprinkled throughout the collection, along with some daring dips in the neckline.

One "V" neck—in a loose-fitting evening gown—plunged waist low. The fabric, a glitter of deep purple sequins, was eye-catching too.

THE SPRING, from which Cave Spring, Ripley county, derives ts name, is under a natural arch of trees which have stood for more than two generations. This tranquil beauty is an hour and 45 minutes from Sikeston, and more refreshing than air conditioning!

Go West! But Only 80 Miles

Only 80 miles northwest of Sikeston is a virtually untouched bit of nature. The eastern edge of the Ozarks, just off the Ozark Frontier Trail, provides a lot of interesting sights for people who want to travel short distances and see unusual things.

Cave Spring, three miles out of the town of Hunter, has been acquired by the national park system, and will be developed soon. The natural beauty of the spring area is refreshing. So go see it now, instead of waiting for the world to find out about it!

If you follow highway 60 west to Poplar Bluff, you are half way there. Go northwest from Poplar Bluff on highway 60 to the highway 21 junction. Three miles on highway 21, and you are at Hunter.

The people there are proud of the cave and spring. Although it is not the only one in the area, it is one of the most popular. Consequently, it is one of the best known. If you like, you ask directions there. If you prefer, go on your own. Three miles west of Hunter, still on highway 21, you'll find a gravel road to the right. Take it. Landmarks to look for are a trailer house on the left, and on the right, a small house with beehives in the yard. Follow the gravel road three quarters of a mile, and you are under large, old trees and beside a babling brook.

Upstream is the cave (only about an eighth of a mile from the parking area), which you can see past the old mill-house.

Since the area has not been developed as a public park the only actual park facility is a litter barrel. Use it. You may want to go back and look at that clean, green spot again.

You can camp there overnight, and count the fireflies, or listen to the whip-poor-wills. And listen to the brook as it bubbles over the stones. There are wild-flowers, and a few domestic ones. A few years ago, a couple had a home across the stream from the parking area. The house, like people, is gone, but the natural stone foundation is still there, and part of it has rose bushes blooming on it.

It is a rare bit of nature, still natural. Enjoy it. It is as refreshing as spring the year round.

Social Calendar

THURSDAY

Entre Nous Club will meet with Mrs. Walter Rayburn at 7 p.m.

When tortillas are to be rolled, remember that they must be heated (in a little melted shortening) only until they soften.

When you are arranging stuffed tortillas in a baking dish (as in making enchiladas) remember to place the tortillas seam side down.

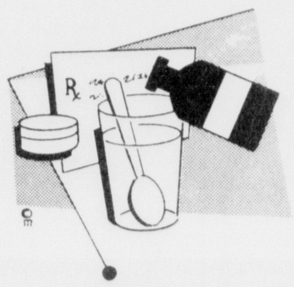

For a quick supper make this easy ham omelet. In saucepan cook 1 onion, chopped, and 1 green pepper, chopped, in 2 tablespoons vegetable oil until tender. Stir in 2 cans (8 ounces each) OR 1 can (15 ounces) tomato sauce with tomato bits and 2 cups chopped cooked ham; simmer 10 to 15 minutes. Meanwhile, prepare a 6-egg omelet. Spoon sauce over omelet and serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

Green noodles taste wonderful with nothing more than butter added. For a really elegant dish, add as much as a quarter pound of butter for eight ounces of the noodles, cooked. Cut the butter into thin slices and as soon as the noodles are cooked and drained, mix in the butter and allow it to melt. A long-handled fork and spoon will help you mix in the butter.

Crisp tortillas in a little oil in a skillet and then heap them with chili con carne, grated cheddar cheese and shredded lettuce. Serve at once.

Vanduser Loses First

Bertrand handed Vanduser its first defeat in Four-County Babe Ruth league play at Vanduser last night, posting an 11-2 victory behind Fred Morrow's pitching while Parma pulled out a 10-6 win at Bell City.

Vanduser still leads the league with a 4-1 record with Bertrand and Parma tied for second with 4-2 marks. Bell City and Benton are tied for fourth with 1-4 records.

Three pitchers failed to stop Bertrand's victory bid. Ronnie Bryant was issued the defeat.

Bertrand broke the game open in the sixth after it took a 5-2 lead into the inning, it added three more and concluded the scoring with three tallies in the seventh on Alan Quertermous' three-run homer.

Parma scored nine runs in the last four innings at Bell City to put down the pesky crew, who jumped in front momentarily in the fifth (6-5) when its scored five runs on three hits and five walks.

Jethro Pugh collected the win, pitching the final two and one third innings, allowing one hit and collecting five strikeouts.

Parma ripped 10 hits with Mike Garrard, Reggie Gregory and Pugh having two for three showings at the plate. Two of the nine starters failed to hit safely.

Bell City's Bell collected three of the teams six hits.

Roland Neal collected two hits in three times at bat to lead the Parma offense. He drove in the tying run in the sixth and scored the winning run on Don Crews' single.

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Bob Bayless of West Palm Beach, Fla., expected to be the quarterback for the Yale football team this fall will not be eligible because of scholastic difficulties, it was announced Thursday. He also was an outstanding punter.

Reiss, Nowell Take Wins

Babe Ruth play last night saw Reiss Dairy defeat the Bank of Sikeston 7-5 and Nowell Real Estate downed Hart's Bread 12-2.

Reiss had a total of eight hits in the opener with three of these being acquired by Sherrod. Bank of Sikeston had a total of five hits as Bobby Blankenship and Marvin Ralph led the two with two apiece.

Collins also received the pitching win for Reiss and Bobby Blankenship suffered the loss.

Shafffar contributed three hits to the winning team's effort and collected the only extra base hit of the battle which was a double.

Laplant received the win for Nowell and Shaw was endowed with the loss.

Collins, Mutual of Omaha, First National, and Leslie won in Musial and American divisions in last night's play.

Eighteen Mutual of Omaha players joined forces in taking a 23-7 win over the Bank of Sikeston. Mutual acquired a total of 19 hits in the contest compared to only two for the opponents.

Delarosa received the pitching win and D. Wilkinson suffered the loss.

Collins took a 13-6 win over KSIM in the other contest at Farris Field but further information was not available.

Opening American battle saw First National down Fabick 18-4. Extra base hits in the contest included triples by Whittaker and Box.

Whittaker received the win from the mound as Paullus was credited with the loss.

Second game saw top ranked Police suffer an 11-10 defeat by Leslie Insurance. Six of the ten hits collected in the game were for extra bases.

Doubles were accumulated by Gardener, Bean, Horne, and Rofkahr and triples by Pickett and Littleton.

Coffey Camp Only Undefeated Team In Dexter League Standings

By WAYNE WILLIAMS

DEXTER — Coffey and Camp's entry in the Civic league is the only undefeated team in the city, showing a 7-0 record at the top of the Civic league standings.

International Hat shows a 6-1 record and first place in the Little League standings while the Dodgers are 4-2 and hold down the lead in the Babe Ruth.

Wednesday night's action had the Belles beating the Candy Caines 9-7 in Girls Softball action at the East Park and International Hat taking a 3-2 win over Harts Truck in Little League play at the West field.

Marcella Bader was credited with the Belles win, pitching a five hitter. Janet Millington was the loser. Joe Ann Nelson and Bader hit homers for the winners while Teresa Pullum added a triple and Janie Stoll homered for the losers.

Harold Paris collected nine strikeouts in collecting the Little League win with a six hitter. Larry Clippard was the loser. Robbie Mayer and Rodney Craft hit a double and homer respectively for the winners.

Janet Millington collected the victory with Rose Mary Guethle being the loser. Terry Norton doubled for the winners while Sandy Craft doubled and Julie Morgan tripled for the losers.

HEAD START ON READING 9

Patience Needed for Late Bloomers

By Dr. Ruth Strickland
Reading Specialist at Indiana University

How does a parent work with a child who is slow in developing an interest and proficiency in learning to read?

Be understanding, and patient, patient, patient.

Children develop both physically and mentally at different ages and at different rates. They follow their own built-in timetables. Parental pressure to change those timetables is likely to do much more harm than good.

We see this plainly as the child begins to talk (and learning to talk is a necessary preliminary to learning to read).

Some children begin early; others begin later, and acquire speech quite slowly. By no means should we consider all late developers to be children of low ability. They are merely following their own timetable.

One thing we are sure of is that we cannot force little children to learn to talk. We can stimulate them, certainly, and encourage them with praise and approval. But we cannot force them.

Efforts to force a child to talk frequently result in great retardation. The pressured child shuts up like a little clam and we get no talk from him until he has somehow developed the confidence and willingness to try again.

Since reading follows speaking, the same rules apply.

With a child who is slow in developing in language, it is vitally important that the parent talk often with him—not so much talk as to engulf him in sound and thus discourage him, but enough to give him help and reinforcement.

Drawing can help the slow-to-read.

If, for instance, such a child says, "red car," the parent can say, "Yes, there goes a red car. And, look, there goes a black truck, too."

In this way, the parent involves himself in the kind of thing the child might want to talk about. He helps him understand what he might be saying, but he does not try to force him to say it.

Helping Late Bloomers

The late-developing child needs a great deal of family help in achieving the kinds of auditory and visual discrimination we have discussed in earlier articles.

He needs more help than the average child in learning to notice the similarities and differences in sounds and shapes so that he can react to them with ease. It is important that he have quantities of picture books, with stories easy to understand. These should be read to him by his brothers and sisters and parents so that he has many opportunities to hear the language and to associate it with books and reading.

When the late-developing child does begin to talk, it also is important that parents write down some of the things he says.

The child should be encouraged to cut pictures out of magazines, or draw his own with crayons or pencil. As he tells what these pictures are about, the parent can write down what he says underneath the pictures.

These pages can then be fastened together into a little book that the child can feel is all his own. These and similar books can be added to Mother Goose books, picture books and the like to form the beginning of a small but very personal library for the child.

While you are taking down a child's dictation, you can teach him a great deal about reading and writing if you encourage him to stand or sit near enough so that he can watch carefully.

Keep On Praising

Every child needs the stimulation that comes with adult interest and adult approval. This is especially true of the child who seems to be slower in picking up things the parents want him to learn.

The slow-starting child needs encouragement and reinforcement, with definite approval for every effort he puts forth, every minor achievement. This approval must be sincere, for a child can sense it otherwise.

When this child enters school, parents again must be careful to encourage him, but not expect him to go faster than he can go. If he was late in developing in other ways, he may be late in reading, too. But he can be successful in time if he is not made to feel inferior by his family.

All the things that one does with other children need to be done more carefully and over a longer period of time with the late blooming child: opportunities to help Mother find the things she needs in the supermarket, talking about street signs along the way, pointing out the differences and similarities in sounds and shapes.

Quite often an older child in the family, particularly an older sister who is not the impatient type, can be a great help in getting the slow starter underway.

Sometimes a tangible reward will spur the late developer. Perhaps Mother can provide a special treat at lunchtime because he has worked so hard at telling her a story. Or perhaps Mother can take the time to read an extra story to him because he has done so well with his story book.

Homers Sidetrack Cardinals

Perhaps a change of scenery will put the St. Louis Cardinals and Kansas City Royals onto the winning track. Both were again sidetracked Thursday.

Montreal outbombed the Cards, 8—6, sparked by home runs off the bats of pitcher Howie Reed, Jose Laboy and Bob Bailey, and three hits apiece by Ron Fairly and Rusty Staub. Joe Toree homered for the Cards while Curt Flood, with three hits, was the only Redbird to get more than one safety.

Oakland edged the Royals, 3-2, on Reggie Jackson's two-run homer, his 28th of the season, and Danny Caater's run-scoring double in the seventh. The Royals scored on an error and Bob Oliver's first inning triple and Pat Kelly's fifth inning solo homer.

The change of scenery today moves St. Louis into Wrigley Field at Chicago against the front-running Cubs of the National League's East Division. Steve Carlton will be on the mound for the Cards in hope of putting his eighth victory of the year into the books against five setbacks. The Cubs will counter with ten-game winner Ken Holtzman, the loser of record in only one game.

Kansas City settles down in the friendly, but often more friendly to the opposition, confines of Municipal Stadium to begin a 12-game home stand tonight. The Royals' first series in the current appearance before home town fans is with Minnesota, who leads the Oakland A's in the American League's West Division by one-half game. Dick Drago will start for the Royals and Dick Woodson for the Twins.

Cooney, L & W Post Softball Victories

By DALE A. LEWIS

Cooney Equipment unloaded 17 hits good for 16 runs in only five innings last night to upset Barkett's Big Star 16 to 6 in City softball action at City Park.

Randy Walker was the big gun for Cooney, chalking up a perfect 4 for 4 at the plate, including two, two-run homers, while driving in seven runs.

Winning only its second game to go with six losses, Cooney made short work of Barkett's, batting around the lineup in the firs inning and shoving across six runs. Two more runs in the second, five in the third, and three in the fifth put in effect the 10-run rule and the game ended after five complete innings.

Ken Dowdy hit a two-run homer in the first for Barkett's, but the damage had already been done and the Big Star team went down to its fifth loss of the season to go with three victories.

In the nightcap, Sikeston Light & Water, after losing its first game of the season the night before, played cat and mouse with Presley Travel Trailers for three innings before unloading with ten runs the last four innings and waltzing to a 14 to 4 win.

It was all tied at 4-all at the end of three before L & W came to bat in the fourth and promptly scored five runs on two walks, three errors, and three hits.

Wayne Cowell had a perfect night at the plate for L & W, driving in five runs with a double, triple, and two-run homer in three trips. G. Hatley hit a solo homer in the second inning for Presley.

Tonight at City Park, it's Barkett's Big Star versus the Bank of Sikeston at 7 p.m., and Sikeston Motor Company hosting Budweiser in the 8:30 p.m. contest. Bleachers have now been erected at the City Park Ballfield, so for fun under the lights, a cordial invitation to come on out and watch how the softball game is played.

Students Named To Dean's List

Those receiving the recognition must achieve a 3.5 grade point average on at least 14 semester hours of classwork and can receive no grade below a "C."

A student's grade point average is figured by dividing the total hours of classwork he attempts into the total number of quality points earned. Each hour of "A" gives him four quality points, each hour of "B" three points, and so forth.

Thus, a grade report of straight "A" comes out to a 4.0 average, s raight "B's" represents 3.0, straight "C's" 2.0. At least a 2.0 average in all course-work attempted is required for graduation.

Students named included:

Morehouse- Victoria J. Schindler, major, none listed, 3.8 junior; John C. Shoptaw, major, mathematics, 4.0- junior.

Delay Denied On Cigarette Ad Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite pleas from the tobacco industry and over the objection of its chairman, the Federal Trade Commission is going ahead with hearings on a tough, new cigarette smoking warning.

The FTC Wednesday rejected, by a 3-2 vote, a move to postpone the hearings until after Congress takes some action on the smoking-health controversy.

The vote paved the way for the FTC to open hearings next Tuesday with testimony from antismoking witnesses, led by Surgeon General William S. Stewart and his predecessor, Dr. Luther L. Terry.

Rejecting the postponement were Commissioners Philip Elman, Mary Gardiner Jones and James M. Nicholson. FTC Chairman Paul Rand Dixon and Commissioner Everett MacIntyre favored a delay.

The hearings will deal with a proposed trade regulation requiring all cigarette advertising —in newspapers and magazines as well as television and radio commercials—to state clearly and prominently:

"Cigarette smoking is dangerous to health and may cause death resulting from cancer, coronary heart disease, chronic bronchitis, pulmonary emphysema and other diseases."

Supporting this claim Tuesday will be Stewart; Terry, now chairman of the National Interagency Council on Smoking and Health; Dr. Charles F. Tate, associate professor of medicine at the University of Miami; Dr. Lewis E. January, representing the American Heart Association; Dr. Sol R. Baker, chairman of the American Cancer Society's Committee on Tobacco and Cancer.

Dr. Robert H. Browning, National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association; Dr. Fred G. Bock, New York State Department of Health; and Bentley J. Bleem, president of Smoke Watchers International.

Purposely, the FTC set the beginning of the hearings as soon as possible after the expiration of the 1965 Cigarette Labeling Act.

That law, which expires Monday, required the relatively mild warning—"Caution: Cigarette Smoking May Be Dangerous to Your Health."

The House, with the support of tobacco state congressmen, already has passed a bill that proposes the label, "Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined that Cigarette Smoking is Dangerous to Your Health and May Cause Cancer and Other Diseases."

The bill would expire July 1, 1975, and would continue to bar the FTC and other regulatory agencies from taking actions beyond the package warning.

But it faces an uncertain fate in the Senate where Chairman Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., has indicated his Senate Commerce Committee will conduct lengthy hearings.

H. Thomas Austern, chairman of the Tobacco Institute, had urged the FTC to delay action on grounds it would be too heavy a burden to prepare testimony for both the FTC and the Senate committee.

Dixon, who supported the proposed trade regulation, voted to go along and postpone the FTC hearing. MacIntyre has sought all along for the commission to take no action, pending a decision in Congress.

Construction Begins on State Dining Room

The dining room, which will consist of a small area seating 75 and a large area seating 150, is being constructed on the ground level in the middle of the dormitories, which together house about 1,500 students. The job is expected to take about five months to complete.

General contract was awarded to Crites & Sailer Construction Co. of Cape Girardeau on a bid of $111,780. Contract for the kitchen equipment went to Ford Equipment and Contracting Co. of St. Louis on a bid of $17,500.

A spokesman for the firm said the large dining area will be 37 feet by 60 feet, while the small area will be 18 feet by 50 feet. Normally there will be access between the two areas, but soundproof sliding doors will make it possible to divide the addition into two rooms.

The large dining room will have a coffered ceiling, quarry tile floor and rough cedar walls.

The Fine Arts Commission is concerned only in an advisory capacity with the federal government's art treasures, including memorial paintings and statuary.

Highway 25 Improvements Scheduled for 1971-73

MALDEN — Timetables for planned improvements for Route 25 in Stoddard and Dunklin counties remain unchanged from those reported on Feb. 13, 1969.

A that time, William H. Shaw, District 10 SHD engineer, Sikeston, reported that work would likely be started in 1971 on resurfacing of the highway from south of Dexter to north of Malden; and from south of Malden to McGuire. Shaw at that time said that the McGuire Holcomb project would likely get underway in 1972.

Residents of the Malden - Bernie - Dexter area had hoped that this timetable could be speeded up. Recently a delegation headed by Charles Clodfelter of Dexter, chairman of the Highway 25 Association, and Mayor Sparrel Davis of Malden appeared before the State Highway Commission seeking a speedup.

The Commission apparently is holding to its earlier plan as The Missouri Weekly, Kennett, in its Saturday edition gave similar timetable as had been reported previously in the Malden Press-Merit.

The Missouri Weekly quoted James R. Turner, chief engineer for the Highway Planning Division, as saying that 11 improvement projects are scheduled with all contracts to be awarded within three years. He did say that some portions of the highway will be improved within a briefer period of time.

Turner said the cost of the 11 proposed projects would include $163,000 for preliminary engineering; $776,000 for the acquisition of right-of-way; and $4,058,000 for actual construction costs along the 65-mile stretch from White Oak to a point just south of Delta.

All the construction work on Highway 25, Turner explained, would consist of what the department calls "high-type pavement," which means asphaltic concrete similar to paving on south Highway 25 between Kennett and Cardwell. In addition, the highway, except on the northern portion of Highway 25, will be 24 feet in width, extending from White Oak to Aquilla, north of Bloomfield. Certain portions of the highway, from Aquilla to Delta, will be 22 and 20-foot widths.

Turner explained that all of Highway 25 in the Bootheel, however, will be 24 feet in width and will include improved and enlarged shoulders. Present widths vary from 18 to 19 feet.

Now under construction are two projects — resurfacing of Highway 25 through the city of Malden, and relocation of Highway 25 through Bernie.

A contract will be let in the next few months for a four-mile resurfacing project from Bloomfield north to Aquilla. Specifications for this project will call for high-type asphaltic concrete surface of 24-foot width.

Within one year the department will begin preliminary engineering and right-of-way acquisition of all of the unimproved remaining portions of Highway 25, Turner explained. He estimated this would require 12 months to complete.

In 1971, the department will let contracts for three sizeable Highway 25 projects, including a four-mile stretch from McGuire corner, south of Malden, to the Malden city limits. The McGuire corner is the intersection of Highways 25 and 62.

A second project will include an eight-mile stretch from north of Malden to Bernie. A third project scheduled for 1971 includes a seven-mile stretch from Bernie to Dexter.

In 1972, the department will let contracts for three widening projects and two reconstruction projects running north from White Oak to McGuire corner. This will mark one of the major portions of Highway 25 to be improved with changes being made in the present route of Highway 25 at two locations.

A second 1972 project will be reconstruction of the route thru the city of Malden, extending from the south city limits to the Malden Industrial Park, located north of the city. The reconstruction will go to the west of the present Highway 25 location, Turner said.

A third project that year will be from a point near Aquilla to the Stoddard - Cape Girardeau County line, while a fourth project will include widening and improving the route from the two-county boundary line to a point south of Delta.

All of the work being proposed by the Highway Planning division will come under the Highway Commission's primary road system program, most of which has tentatively been approved for the next five years.

Turner said all of the work will be started within the next three years, barring some change in economic conditions or an equally drastic change in construction costs.

The major Highway 25 improvement program marks the first time definite plans have been drawn and released by the department for the unimproved 65-mile stretch of Highway 25 from White Oak to Delta.

Gas Tax Hike Bid Defeated

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri House rejected a plan to boost the motor fuel tax Wednesday.

It was a second round for the House on an issue it had approved earlier. But this time as the hours slipped by the House rejected on a voice vote a two-cent increase in the tax—from the present levy of 5 cents a gallon—and on a 66-67 roll call vote it defeated even a one-cent increase.

The action leaves only one road building proposal before the legislature, a Senate-passed constitutional amendment that would permit the use of state highway funds for construction of toll roads.

That's the first recommendation of Gov. Warren E. Hearnes last January. Dead during this session are House - passed toll road plans and one to issue road building bonds with a tax increase to pay for them.

In a night session the House got embroiled in a teacher tenure bill but had to lay it over because of opposition.

Interlaced in the argument was whether the House Appropriations chairman, Rep. E.J. (Lucky) Cantrell, D-Overland, should wear a tie and have his shirt collar buttoned if he is on the House floor.

There was no final decision but the night session was upset.

Sent to the governor were bills to raise the salaries of county treasurers, increase fees for licensing chiropractors and set up a new fee system for the St. Louis County sheriff's office.

COMMUNISM AND CRIMINALS

HAVANA (AP) — When six members of a burglary ring were sentenced recently to prison terms ranging from three to thirty years, the trial drew a large crowd and there was vigorous applause when the convictions were announced.

Thus reported the Communist Party newspaper, "Granma," commenting that the applause showed "an unmistakable sign that the people are in a state of alert in this fight to the death against delinquency."

Load of Hogs Brings 20 Cents Pound

50 years ago
June 27, 1919

R.Q. Brown returned from St. Louis Thursday morning, where he had shipped a load of hogs the first of the week. The hogs sold for a little over 20 cents per pounds.

Miss Mary Ross recently received a telegraphic appointment to a clerkship in the War Rish Bureau in Washington, D.C., at a salary of $1,100 per annum to start with. Miss Ross was anxious to take the position for the educational opportunities offered, but decided to remain in Sikeston with her father and mother.

A.F. Lindsay has returned from St. Louis bringing with him a new designer, H.A. Flinchpaugh.

Ira Shuffit, who saw eight months service in France arrived home Thursday night.

Charles Henson, formerly in charge of the WPA warehouse here and long a resident in Sikeston, was all but scalped while at work in Poplar Bluff, where he has been working with the WPA for some time. He was driving a city dump truck up a hill in the city Friday morning when the engine stalled. The brakes would not hold, so the truck plunged backward down the hill and struck a tree. Besides the scalp injury, an ear was almost torn off and one leg and both arms were badly bruised. Physicians at the Poplar Bluff hospital spent three hours applying 200 stitches to the scalp.

Malone Theatre, today, returned showing of "Jesse James" starring Tyrone Power, Henry Fonda, Nancy Kelly and Randolph Scott. Tomorrow, Claudette Colbert and Don Ameche in "Midnight" with John Barrymore, Francis Lederer and Mary Aster.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Thomas are parents of a baby daughter born at their home here Monday morning. The little girl has been named Peggy Sue.

Cigarette Maker Not Liable for Death

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Stoggy smoked cigarettes as if his life depended upon it. As soon as one weed went out, he lit another. Finally, after many years, he went out. He developed lung cancer and died.

Heartbroken, Stoggy's widow sued the manufacturer of the brand of cigarettes her erstwhile husband had loyally smoked over the years for causing Stoggy's untimely demise.

"When a manufacturer sells a product for human consumption," she complained in court, "It's supposed to be wholesome and fit. The only thing those cigarettes were fit for was to cause lung cancer."

"There was nothing wrong with out cigarettes," was the manufacturer's defense. "The trouble was with Stoggy. He died. The fact is, our cigarettes are as good as any other cigarette."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you hold the cigarette manufacturer liable for Stoggy's death for manufacturing a product that was unwholesome and unfit?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held, in effect, that the manufacturer's cigarettes were basically the same as any other cigarettes and were as wholesome and fit as cigarettes can be expected to be. That as far as cigarettes go, concluded the judge, there was nothing defective in the manufacturer's product.

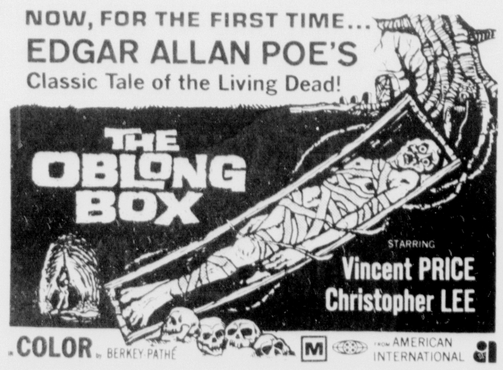

A strong dissent, however, urged that any product that causes cancer, such as cigarettes, should be deemed unfit even though some escape death from smoking them. Smoking cigarettes, suggested the dissent, in tantamount to play Russian roulette with lives.

INVITATION FOR BIDS

The Housing Authority of the City of Dexter, Missouri, will receive bids for the Construction of a public low-rent housing project described as:

Project No. MO 34-1, Site "E", Dexter, Missouri, one hundred (100) dwelling units, one (1) Management - Maintenance and Community Building and site improvements:

until 1:00 P.M., on the 9th day of July, 1969, at the Civic Center in the Library Building located at Elm and Vine Streets in Dexter, Missouri, at which time and place all bids will be publicly opened and read aloud.

Stanley Brown, Architect, Suite 409, Fausett Plaza Building, Little Rock, Arkansas

Stanley Brown, Architect, 4012 Cedar Springs Road, Dallas, Texas

Bill Harry B. Jennings, Executive Director, Housing Authority of the City of Dexter, Number One North Walnut Street, Dexter, Missouri

F. W. Dodge Corp., 3842 W. Pine Blvd., St. Louis, Missouri

F. W. Dodge Corp., 2400 Poplar, Suite 220, Memphis, Tennessee

F. W. Dodge Corp., 300 Scott Ave., Little Rock, Arkansas

Associated General Contractors of America, 320 S. Dudley, Memphis, Tennessee

Mid-West Contractor, P. O. Box 766, Kansas City, Missouri

Builders Exchange, 642 South Cooper, Memphis, Tennessee

One set of Project No. MO 34-1 documents may be obtained from the Architect upon deposit of $50.00, check made payable to Stanley Brown, Architect, 4012 Cedar Springs Road, Dallas, Texas. Additional sets of plans and specificiations may be obtained from the Architect upon the payment of the sum of $35.00, which will not be refunded. Subcontractors and material suppliers may obtain plans and specifications at an outright purchase amoung of $35.00 per set.

Deposits will be returned to all bona fide bidders if the contract documents are returned in good condition to the office of the Architect within ten (10) days after bid opening date. Contract documents furnished to those who do not submit a bona fide bid will only be returned 50% of the deposit, if the contract documents are returned in good condition within ten (10) days of bid opening date to the office of the Architect.

A certified check or bank draft, payable to the Local Authority, U. S. Government bond, or a satisfactory bid bond executed by the bidder and acceptable sureties in the amount equal to five (5) percent of the bid shall be submitted with each bid. The successful bidder will be required to furnish and pay for satisfactory performance and payment bond or bonds.

Attention is called to the fact that not less than the minimum salaries and wages set forth in the specifications must be paid on this project, and that the contractor must perform with his own forces at least the construction branches of structural concrete and carpentry.

The Local Authority reserves the right to reject any or all bids or to waive any informalities in the bidding.

No bid shall be withdrawn for a period of sixty (60) days subsequent to the opening of bids without the consent of the local Authority.

Today In U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, June 27, the 178th day of 1969. There are 187 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1950, President Harry S. Truman ordered the U.S. Air Force and Navy to help repel an invasion of theRepublic of Korea by North Korea.

On this date:

In 1652, New York City, then New Amsterdam, passed a law against speeding. The ruling applied to wagons, carts and sleighs.

In 1844, Morman leaders Joseph and Hyrum Smith were killed by a mob in Carthage, Ill. Brigham Young became head of the church.

In 1847, telegraph service began between New York and Boston.

Ten years ago: The World Council of Churches called for support of a United Nations proposal for an all-out effort to aid refugees.

Five years ago: Henry Cabot Lodge, leaving South Vietnam as U.S. ambassador, said he was confident that a formula had been found to defeat the Communists.

One year ago: The Soviet Union said it was ready to open discussions about a mutual limitation of antiballistic missile systems.

Survivors include five sons: Oscar Smith Jr. and Robert Gordon Smith, both of St. Louis, George William Smith, Sikeston, James Noel Smith, St. Charles, and Donald Richard Smith, Killeen, Tex.; five daughters, Mrs. Magdeline Henson, Morehouse, Mrs. Velva Parrish, Sikeston; Mrs. Sarah Wilson, North Rideville, Ohio, Mrs. Peggy Murdy, Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Vida Keeling, Park Forrest, Ill.; one sister, Mrs. Edna Jones, South Haven, Mich., 26 grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

The body is at Nunnelee Funeral Home.

E. E. Grant

Grant Will Join Bank

In making the announcement, President Jack Hogan said Grant's duties will be primarily in business development and public relations. He will begin work Tuesday.

Grant has been associated with the Missouri State highway department and Grant Oil Company. A Sikeston native, Grant attended public schools in Sikeston and Southeast Missouri State College in Cape Girardeau.

He and his wife, Joan, and son, Chip, attend the Tanner Street Church of God.

Mink Replacing Fox

Mink has replaced the silver fox in American fashion styles. Less than 10,000 silver fox pelts are now produced annually, as against a yearly production of about six million ranch-raised mink today.

has a responsibility to improve the dialogue between adults and youths.

3. Preparing youth for professions after graduation, is the responsibility of the community. In high school youth should have the benefit of business advisors, counselors and experts in various fields. Business men should have training programs to assist students.

4. Communities should sponsor recreational programs and camps, using qualified high school and college students to help, with the program being available for youth of all races, colors and creeds.

5. There should be a joint committee, composed of youth and adults, which should coordinate youth programs, and a central gathering place for youth should be established with responsibility for operation and maintenance being placed on youth.

6. Communities should endeavor to see that the qualities of moving pictures be improved.

7. Parents should teach children to assume responsibility not only in the home, but in the school.

8. Parents should not over indulge their teenagers by giving them too much money and teenagers should learn the value of money by earning it in useful employment.

9. Constructive action on the part of adults and teenagers will improve the community welfare and destructive act will destroy the welfare of the community.
